LONDON — Members of Sir Alexander Korda's family took opposing sides Tuesday in a legal wrangle over where to bury the ashes of the famous film producer, who died more than two years ago.

hopes that the public will turn out in Victorian dress too.

THANKSGIVING

Saturday's flamboyance will be transformed into quiet thanksgiving Sunday morning to the memory of B.C.'s pioneers.

Special centennial services will be observed in all churches as the whole province follows Victoria's lead in marking the official opening of the centenary.

At 2:30 p.m. acting premier Eric Martin will read the proclamation for the Day of Prayer from the steps of the Legislative Building.

Hymns, a thanksgiving service and a litany to the men and women who built the province will precede the presentation of centennial flags to Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black, the mayor and reeves of Greater Victoria.

The province's centennial flag will be raised by a squad of RCMP on the Legislative Building grounds. Bands from HMCS Naden and the Salvation Army will perform during the hour-long service.

Civic officials will attend an interdenominational church service in the Memorial Arena at 7:30 p.m. for the public. Rt. Rev. J. S. Thomson, moderator of the United Church in Canada and dean of divinity at McGill University, will be the speaker.

The service will be timed to enable those attending to reach Clover Point by 9 p.m. for the beacon-lighting ceremony.

The Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry drum corps and the 5th Medium Independent Battery band will perform a concert until 9:30 p.m., when Attorney-General Robert Bonner will set fire to a 50-foot-high pile of wood.

SCOUTS' WORK

Wood for the bonfire will be piled up in advance by the Fairfield Rover Scouts. Flames from the beacon will be visible to residents of Port Angeles, where the mayor has promised to light a similar fire in salute.

As the beacon fire flares into the night in Victoria, residents in more than 200 communities across the province will light similar beacon fires and join in singing the National Anthem.

R. D. Richmond, chief engineer, special weapons, Canadian Ltd. Also present at the panel discussion were two high-ranking United States officers, Gen. Melvin F. McNickle, deputy commander of the Air Research and Development Command at Andrews Air Force Base, near Washington, D.C., and Col. Gordon Duncan, of the same base.

At another session, Canadian aircraft manufacturers discussed production of missiles in this country, with a view to urging the government to integrate defence production.

Consensus of opinion was that production of missiles is an easier, faster, and less expensive project than production of aircraft.

More complicated and more expensive is construction of launching bases for the missiles.

Also revealed during the meeting here was the fact that the United States has working plans for a jet aircraft which would travel in the upper stratosphere, or even ionosphere, at 1,500 miles per hour with a payload of 90 to 120 passengers.

It was reported that the problem of disaster to early Comet aircraft—has been solved by metallurgists.

7 Sites Tested For Giant Dam

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sir Thomas Foy, chief consulting engineer for Wenner-Gren interests in B.C., says the company has located seven possible dam sites on the Peace River. Sir Thomas was replying to a report that drilling crews had found a single site for a proposed giant dam on the Peace. Four of the potential sites are at the western end of the Peace River Canyon, near Finlas Forks, Sir Thomas said. The other three are near Hudson Hope.

New Enthusiasm Hikes Attendance For Tory Parley

By PETE LOUDON

Delegates may have to come early to be sure of a seat when the quarterly meeting of the B.C. Progressive Conservative Party opens at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Empress Hotel.

The party, which earlier booked the Queen Charlotte and Albert Rooms with capacity for 125 persons, now expects close to 175 to attend.

FRIENDS COMING

A large number of party "friends" who will have a voice but no vote in the proceedings, are expected, provincial president Gowan T. Guest, Vancouver lawyer, said today.

Some controversy is expected following the announcement that Delta Constituency Association will call for a fall leadership and policy convention.

Although provincial leader Deane Finlayson has stated he would not object to a leadership convention, it is reported many of his supporters would oppose it. There are rumors other names would be put forward as leadership candidates.

These include the name of Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton, whose home riding is Kamloops. Certain sections of the party feel with the new power of the Conservatives in Ottawa, Mr. Fulton could be spared to assist the party in this province.

Pilot Killed

OTTAWA (CP) — A two-engine Beechcraft aircraft owned by the transport department crashed and burned at nearby Uplands Airport today, killing its lone occupant, who was not identified.

Another name mentioned is former B.C. Conservative leader Herbert Anscomb. Names of various "industrialists," new to politics also are being bandied about.

Mr. Guest doubted the Saturday meeting will oppose a fall convention.

'GREAT RALLY'

"The enthusiasm in the party is such that we feel a great rally (or convention), would be a better thing than the regular annual meeting."

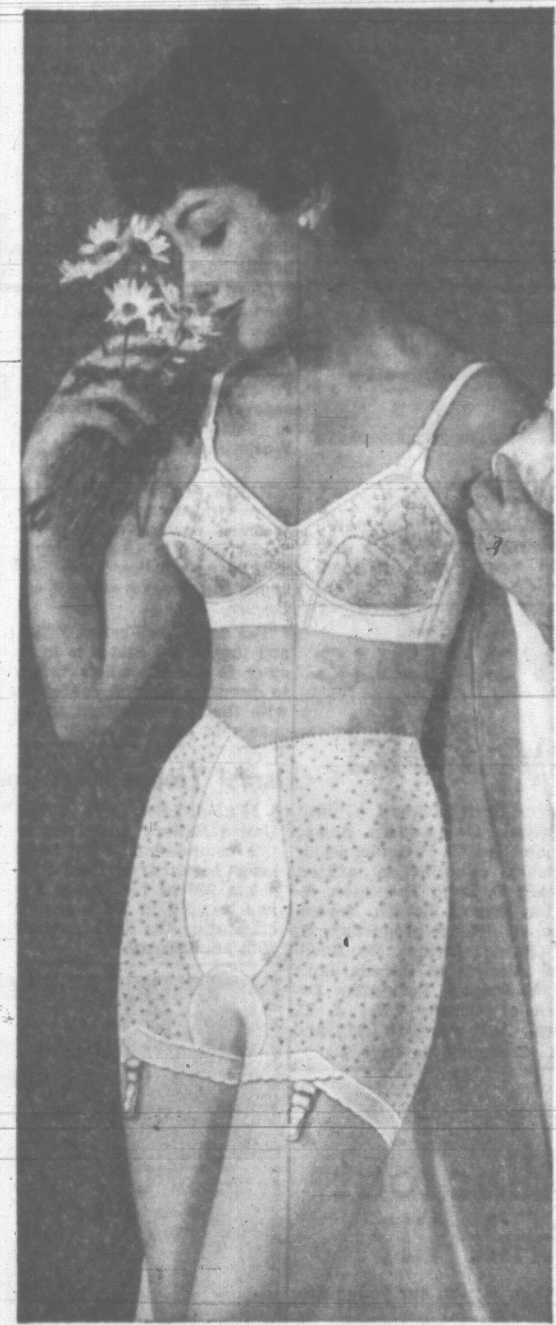

However, he added, many persons other than official executives are expected to be heard from.

He said 133 delegates are authorized to attend. Of these 120 are definitely expected.

Also, "... we have indicated any Conservative interested enough to pay his expenses will be welcomed and able to speak, though only delegates may vote; so there will likely be about 50 'friends'."

10,000 DIE AS SMALLPOX HITS PAKISTAN

DACCA, Pakistan (Reuters) — About 10,000 persons have died during the last three weeks as a result of cholera and smallpox epidemics sweeping East Pakistan, provincial health sources said here today.

The Indian government today applied quarantine measures along Pakistan's border with West Bengal, where there also is a cholera epidemic.

At the beginning of April smallpox broke out in two northern districts of East Pakistan, grew to epidemic proportions, and swept down over the rest of the province with its 50,000,000 inhabitants.

Fireworks Among the Stars

A rare show was seen in like it won't be seen for a long Pacific Northwest skies Tuesday night.

One of the brightest meteors observed in many years put on a spectacular "fireworks" display as it burned up in the earth's atmosphere.

Local reports placed the time of the spectacle at 9:05 p.m. and observers said the meteor flashed across the sky, leaving a long white trail as it disintegrated in a greenish glow.

Another report came from Aberdeen, Wash., and witnesses said it was travelling south to north. It also was sighted at nearby Hoquiam and Westport. The object also was seen at Rainier, Ore., where Ira Mitchell said it moved across the sky from east to west.

Partial Support For Firemen Pledged by CLC

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Labor Congress today pledged itself to support the Firemen's Union in its fight with the CPR, but only in a form acceptable to other rail unions.

A resolution calling for support for the firemen was adopted by the convention, with an overnight modification aimed at making it palatable to the bulk of railway labor.

Powerful Frank H. Hall, negotiating chief of the 15 unions representing 130,000 non-operating workers, promptly gave approval to the resolution in its new form.

It also proved acceptable to officers of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen attending the convention.

The resolution originally said that congress leaders would specify the manner and extent of support for the firemen, and the change made it clear that this would be done "in consultation and co-operation" with all rail unions.

PRESIDENTS APPROVE

W. E. Gamble, Canadian chief of the firemen, supported the resolution, and it was announced that international president H. C. Gilbert of the firemen approves it.

Mr. Gamble said his brotherhood was not stubbornly trying to oppose progress.

"We have already lost 3,000 of our 10,000 membership through progress, and we do not oppose that. The jobs we are fighting for are those being threatened by a company plan to add more work on other employees... without regard to safety."

Mr. Hall, whose big group has been reported lukewarm to a second firemen's strike on the diesel issue, said the support resolution should be acceptable to all in view of the overnight change.

KNOWLES SPEAKS

Stanley Knowles, defeated deputy leader of the CCF who is expected to become an executive vice-president of the CLC, said Prime Minister Diefenbaker should be told when he comes to the convention that the congress wants an immediate statement from him "without evasion."

Mr. Diefenbaker is to address the convention Thursday.

PROVES WRITING CRAFT FLOURISHING

B.C. Anthology Triumphs Despite 'Gee-Whiz' Air

By MONTE ROBERTS

An anthology, by definition, can be called a garland of flowers.

And the McClelland and Stewart book, shortly to be made available for sale, entitled British Columbia: A Centennial Anthology, certainly rapes a garland of sweet-scented blossoms over the shoulders of this burgeoning province.

There are 500-plus pages in this excellently-crafted volume, nearly all of which indicate there is no province like this province, and, in fact, no place in the world like this place in the world.

LOSE TO FAIL

There is, of course, an occupational hazard connected with attaining one's self on the back. One is apt to dislocate one's wrist, or, worse still, fall flat on one's ego.

The British Columbia Centennial Anthology comes perilously close to both of these dangers.

It escapes, however, because of the genuine drama inherent in the so-brief history of B.C., and despite the gee-whiz attitude of most of the writers whose works are included.

A resident of British Columbia—either by accident of birth or by choice of immigration—will enjoy this book once he has overcome a tendency to blush at some of the more sonorous passages of praise, which are especially evident in the poetic contributions.

The selection of material, made by the editorial board and assembled by the assistant editorial board, is, by and large, excellent.

It proves, if nothing else, that the craft of writing is flourishing in this young province.

The anthology is at its best when it presents brief, factual accounts of news of yesterday.

But there were no sacrifices and no confusion..."

QUEBEC SAFECRACKERS ESCAPE WITH $100,000

ST. EVARISTE, Que. (CP)—Safe-crackers Tuesday night broke into the Banque Canadienne Nationale in this community 60 miles south of Quebec City and escaped with cash and securities which may be valued as high as $100,000, police said.

Bank authorities said a complete inventory will have to be taken before the exact loss is known but that it could run into six figures.

Police said the thieves forced their way into the building and cut through the cement wall of the vault.

The theft was discovered this morning. Manager Charles Lemieux had been transferred to St. Evariste only this week.

VICTORIA OPINION POLL

Four in Five Have Hobby; Gardening, Reading Tops

By BEN CROW

Four out of five Greater Victoria people have a hobby. That is, they consider some kind of leisure activity as a hobby.

Many persons have casual interests such as collecting a few stamps or coins, taking occasional photographs, or tending pets. But their interest in these pursuits is not keen enough, in their estimation, to consider the activity a hobby.

A survey of 100 men and women over 19 years of age uncovered nearly 30 different special interests. Over 100 are known to exist.

One in five of all respondents claimed reading or one of the arts as a hobby.

Men are strongly inclined to outdoor sports or woodworking and other do-it-yourself projects. Many women find pleasure in needlework, while the more active like gardening, sports or dancing.

The question and results are as follows:

"Do you have any hobbies?"

Boy Gunman Fourth to Die In Family Duel With Police

DANA POINT, Calif. (AP)—Fourteen-year-old Charles Allyn Seyfert died Tuesday night in hospital, the fourth victim of a gun fight in which his father, a younger brother and a deputy sheriff were killed Monday night.

Charles was wounded when he joined his brother, Tommy, 10, and his father, Charles Seyfert, 39, of Tucson, Ariz., in the battle with two deputies. Police said Charles fired the shots that killed Deputy Robert L. Schultz, 37. Deputy Edward Gene Johnson, also wounded, was reported improving today. Charles was shot by Schultz as he fell wounded.

An autopsy disclosed that the father and Tommy died of .22-calibre bullet wounds. The deputies' guns were .38s. Sheriff's lieutenant Clarence A. Double said: "It looks like Seyfert killed the boy, then turned the gun on himself."

From the Grass Roots

THE MUNICIPALITIES ARE the creations and creatures of the provincial Government but they have a great power of their own. The mayors, reeves and councils of British Columbia are all elected by the people, they come from the grass roots and, moreover, they have been elected for the most part within the last few months. If anyone speaks directly for the people these men do.

Premier Bennett will be wise, therefore, to listen to the municipalities' present protests which undoubtedly represent a revolt against the existing taxation system.

The immediate point of attack is the costs of schools, borne mainly by the land owners. This cost apparently has risen by $10,000,000 in a single year and of that amount Mr. Bennett's much-vaunted "relief" to the municipalities amounts to only $4,000,000, leaving $6,000,000 extra for the land owner to pay.

But the sudden rise in the cost of schools is only the last straw on the back of the municipal camel. As Reeve Ash, of Saanich, rightly says, the Provincial Government is simply refusing to allow the municipalities a sufficient share of the huge revenues collected from the people of British Columbia. Moreover, Mr. Ash adds, the Provincial Government so far has refused to share with the municipalities its latest windfall of extra revenue from the Federal Government.

The Saanich Reeve thinks that even the Provincial Government's present large sales tax revenues could supply enough money to help the municipalities without damaging provincial services. Neither Mr. Ash nor anyone else outside the Government knows, of course, what revenue the province is collecting from sales taxes because the Provincial Government—unlike the Government at Ottawa—publishes no figures on its tax collections except in its annual report to the Legislature. It is likely, however, that sales tax collections are falling at present due to a slowdown in business, especially the construction business.

But Mr. Ash observes that the Federal Government will soon finance about half the cost of the provincial hospital insurance system.

Safety Built in the Car

FOUR STATE OFFICIALS WHO lead the U.S. Governors' Conference Highway Safety Committee have been talking bluntly to major automobile manufacturers on the need to emphasize safety features in their products.

The automobile manufacturers have replied, just as bluntly, that the public apparently considers built-in safety features a minor consideration when buying cars.

The manufacturers point to one important statistic. About 96.5 per cent of all accidents are caused by driver failure, only 3.5 per cent by mechanical failure.

Extensive tests by industry have shown the value of crash-absorbing steering wheels, safety door locks to keep doors from flying open on impact, padded dashboards and seat belts.

The manufacturers admit these facts freely. But they add the comment that purchasers who have bought cars with seat belts neglect to use them and frequently call for their removal on the grounds that the belts are an inconvenience.

The men who make the automobiles also point to a major safety advertising campaign undertaken by

The Provincial Government thus should receive extra revenues from Ottawa of about $16 millions a year.

What is to be done with this money? Mr. Ash suggests that it could be best used to relieve the land owners. For this purpose it should be more than adequate and no better use for it could be found.

If it is not returned to the taxpayers the national hospital insurance scheme will merely mean, in British Columbia, an extra tax burden for everybody since the taxpayers, mainly the people of the municipalities, must provide all the money raised by the Federal Government for hospital purposes.

Mr. Bennett should give immediate attention to Mr. Ash's proposal, to the protests of such men as Mayor Scurrah and to the dilemma of every municipality in the province. He should go further than that and reconsider his whole financial program.

That program is based on the complete elimination of all direct provincial debt by 1960 when, presumably, he will seek re-election. To eliminate the direct debt (while piling up indirect debt) Mr. Bennett has systematically accumulated revenue surpluses year by year and retired existing provincial bonds.

In this policy Mr. Bennett has shown great determination and much could be said for it in times of boom. In times of recession is this still a wise policy? It cannot be a wise policy if it results in grave damage to the municipalities, in heavy new costs to the land owners and in the reduction of those municipal works that are needed to provide employment.

By reducing direct debt too fast—however good his motives may be—Mr. Bennett is creating grave problems which will be blamed on somebody else. If he cannot help the municipalities otherwise, he should consider a partial postponement of his debt retirement schedule.

The municipalities do not require relief several years hence, after Mr. Bennett has paid off his direct debt; they require it right now. Their needs are so urgent, their crisis so immediate, that Mr. Bennett should not hesitate to call a special session of the Legislature to deal with them.

Ford in 1956 and the beating that company took from buyers infinitely more impressed by horsepower.

When the Governors' Conference Highway Safety Committee visited the plants of major manufacturers this month, they met opposition from manufacturers to the idea of legislation to enforce safety features as built-in parts of the cars.

The consensus seemed to be that the public would not pay the extra cost of safety devices, wanted power under the hood and was prepared to drive merrily along the road to disaster in machines only one-thirtieth as fallible as the people who drive them.

It is possible, however, that the manufacturers, with a severe aversion to legislation imposed on their business, will move toward more emphasis on safety in design. That is a reasonable expectation if for no better reason than that it might forestall government regulation.

And the automotive industry is beginning to recognize some errors it has committed in recent design. Sales indicate that it has misjudged public taste for high-priced chrome and finishtails. Conceivably it also misunderstands public appreciation of safety.

A New Chapter

RELEASE FROM PRISON A few days ago of the last 10 Japanese major war criminals still in custody carries its own philosophic connotation. The men were freed unconditionally, although their sentences had not been completed.

Some of the crimes of Japanese soldiers of all ranks, particularly those connected with ill-treatment of prisoners, seemed unpardonable at the time. But time itself has taken a toll of the convicted men. Of the original 28 indicted as a "criminal militaristic clique," two died during the trial and one was declared insane, seven were executed, 16 received life sentences and two were sentenced to shorter terms. Of the prisoners, five later died of natural causes.

Faintly Familiar?

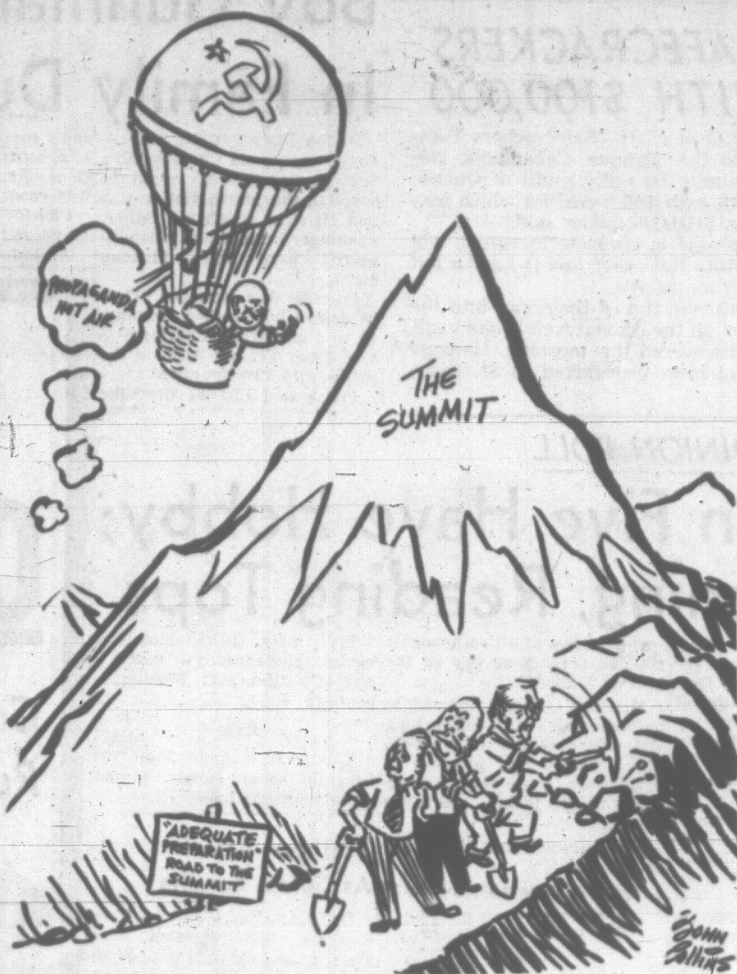

THE NEWS ITEM SAYS THAT 180 pounds of prehistoric ice from the Tasman Glacier on Mount Cook, New Zealand, has been flown to New York to chill the cocktails or the champagne at a dinner given by Sir Leslie Munro, New Zealand's ambassador.

This is an interesting contrast of the miracles of modern flight to the slow-moving and enduring qualities of an ancient glacier. We wish we could look at it only in that light. But somehow it stirs unwelcome thoughts of certain Roman feasts for which the wine was chilled by snow laboriously transported from the Alps.

At any rate, the news item does not state who was booked to fiddle at the New Zealand ambassador's dinner.

The Last Citadel Falls

IT was only a short year ago that we were reading news items about a new electronic marvel in England—a box of tubes, wires and condensers that could write love letters. You'd think engineers and laboratory technicians would have more sense than to let a thing like that loose on the earth. But it was springtime, and I suppose the Manchester University Computer seemed to be what the world was waiting for. At any rate they constructed the gadget so that when they were tired of having it solve intricate mathematical problems, and add up sums like sixty, they could feed a few melting thoughts into the mechanism and have it grind out tender messages of affection.

Tobin

Well, that sort of thing poses its own threat. Perhaps many a lady would rather have a mechanical love letter than no love letter at all. But if springtime lovers—human ones—are to be elbowed aside by a box of wires and bolts, beaten at their own game of sonnets and perfumed missives by a robot plugged in to an outlet in the baseboard, then it's high time something was done. The ladies themselves should be no less alarmed. For if, after they've been wooed by high-voltage phrases and mechanically perfect expressions of regard, they find their admirer is literally a tin full of syrupy words, their disappointment will be great.

So ladies of the world unite, you've got nothing to lose but your swains. As though this invasion of a cultural field traditionally claimed by the human race were not enough, a further onslaught has been made. Only a few days ago a scientist revealed that man has lost still another battle in the now desperate struggle to prove that he's better than the machines he created.

Modern Note

Automation has now reached a point, says Dr. Gordon Shrum, director of the B.C. Research Council, where a machine can be constructed to write a symphony.

Well, there it is, in all its stark horror: a machine writing music.

I suppose it's been inevitable, ever since they made kettles that could whistle. Or perhaps it goes back as far as the anvil chorus. But it is certainly disturbing to think of man out-created by his own creation.

I do not know the details of the proposed monstrosity, whether you have to hum it three or four notes for a theme and then stand back while it throbs and trembles and produces a completed score, or whether it even thinks up its own themes.

But there is more than a hint here, that the day will come when enslaved musicians will toil over compositions written for them by some stack of transistors in a back room, and even find themselves quaking beneath the steely eye of a robot conductor.

Naturally, with such a source for our music, we may expect certain changes in the traditional balance of our orchestras. A metallic composer will obviously favor the instruments most in harmony with his inherent substance.

The strings and woodwinds will no doubt receive short shrift, and the drums may seldom be thumped. The brasses will be given all the choice parts, and the cymbals will probably be heard ad aspirin.

The exact nature of the compositions can as yet only be guessed at, but it is reasonable to believe that they will be far different from the human works we know. Imagine an opus scored for oscillator whistle, heterodyne howl and transformer hum. Such a thing could well be the product of an electronic composer, concerned more with condenser feedback and plate voltage than the usual considerations of human compositions.

Inhuman Cruelty

After hearing what electronics in the form of a juke box can do to human musical creations, there is no reason to hope that a robot composer will be any less cruel.

The familiar names of the great composers will gradually disappear from our ken, and their places will be taken by the guttural combinations of the mechanical wonders.

Thus AMUCSAC, MUSOCO, TINSUC, ONASACA and other similar appellations will become familiar as our musical geniuses.

SHOW MUST GO ON

A shopkeeper from Brunck, in Austria, was driving towards Salzburg when he caught up with a travelling circus. As he slowed down to pass, he felt the car roof caving in on top of him. What had actually happened was that the circus's star turn, an elephant, had suddenly decided to try and climb on board. There was a moment of pandemonium: the animal was eventually coaxed down, and by then the circus manager had arrived, full of profuse apologies, to give the probable reason for this extraordinary behaviour. It seems that for some years, this particular elephant had been accustomed to climbing on to a green-painted tub as part of its act. The car was painted a similar shade of green, and the elephant had just got confused.

Some people write songs,
Some people write odes
To the beautiful scenery
We see from our roads.
They've driven through forests,
They've driven where hilly,
But we in this district
Are just driven silly.

We don't need to hit fences
Or telephone poles.
We spend our time hitting
The mud and pot holes.
So let's have some work done
Be it ever so tardy.

Not Strictly 'In Power'

I must correct Mr. Luff in his statement contained in his letter "Why the Gloom" of April 9, when he states "... he should refer back to 1929 when the British Labor Party was in power, etc."

If Mr. Luff will check the facts he will find that the British Labor Party was not in power in 1929, although they formed a minority government which was dependent on some 40 Liberal votes.

In such circumstances they could not carry out their own policies but for the short time they formed the government were forced to carry out legislation which met with the approval of the Liberal minority.

Why Encourage Speed?

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce enhanced their status as juniors when they recently passed a resolution to increase the speed limit on our highways from 50 to 60 miles per hour.

It is also noted that about a third of their members have evidently reached maturity when they voted against the resolution.

The accident hazard is already a big headache with all of us, especially the highway patrol.

Prod the slow pokes, but the speedsters certainly don't need any prodding.

Taxing Upkeep

I would like to add a further suggestion—an incentive to all—as all are included in this, "Our Centennial Year."

Victoria Jaycees are stressing an added effort on a "Clean-Up, Plant-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up" campaign and Dr. Maughly wisely says, "A tidy city is a sound investment."

So—how many are in favor of a starting marker such as:

"Well-kept homes and grounds—lower taxes."

"Poorly or unkept homes and grounds—higher taxes."

Now how about it? We fix and clean our dirty faces even modestly and wow! up go our taxes. I know, people, pensioners, who would love to put up a fence to add to their property's appearance and keep stray dogs from musing their lawn and garden. But alas! they and many of us cannot afford a tax hike.

As it is now—the dirtier, more rundown a place is the lighter the taxes.

Advice to Follow

In replying to Mr. P. H. Thomas over "issues, not prejudices," it is only fitting to suggest that he follow his own advice.

If the workers had only an elementary knowledge of economics they would know that "national health schemes," "decent" pensions, fair taxation, etc., are capitalist reforms that tend to lower the cost of production of the only thing they have to sell, their ability to work, and consequently lower its price, which is wages.

Unions exist for the purpose of trying to maintain wages and improving working conditions for the working class, the economic field of action. No one has proven that capitalism functions the interests of those who have to work for a living. Therefore, when CCF and labor leaders advocate political forms that increase the exploitation of the worker or that keep labor enslaved to capital, they are dealing with prejudices, not issues and are being an labor in the bargain.

Appeal to Sidney

This letter is written in the hope that it may be read by some retired person in the Sidney area, who on every two weeks, would devote about four hours on a Wednesday afternoon until the end of June, to bringing two or three blind ladies living in Sidney, to the meetings of the White Car Club. These are held in the Blair Building, 1609 Blanshard Street, starting at 2 p.m. and closing with afternoon tea shortly before 4 p.m.

A number of volunteer ladies and gentlemen are now doing this fine work but one more is needed in the Sidney district. You will not be asked, neither will you be expected, to contribute a penny to the funds of the club, and you will return to your home realizing perhaps as never before, what it means to lose your sight. Will you kindly write call or phone for fullest details to—Brettell, 2620 Margate Avenue, 5-2153.

Questions for Mr. McPhillips

Now that election battle smoke has cleared, will our newly re-elected Mr. McPhillips, explain, as matters of prime public importance, some statements he made at the joint meeting of Oak Bay March 25 and as reported in next day's Times?

Mr. McPhillips stated that individual connected with the production of the Hansard facsimile of his Jan. 6 speech could be brought before the bar of the House of Commons and be possibly jailed for contempt.

Why and since when has it been an offence or crime to give publicity to any speech made by a member in open session of the House of Commons? Such a law, if there be one, is a denial of our concepts of democratic procedures.

Mr. McPhillips also stated that no one can rely on the day-to-day Hansard and implied that his speech had not been reported correctly. This is a serious statement, as the Hansards we get from the Queen's Printer have a reputation for being thoroughly reliable and accurate reports of House of Commons proceedings and as such are kept in public records for all time. If we cannot rely on the Hansards we get, to what source can we turn for accurate report of speeches and votes by the member in parliament?

Will Mr. McPhillips please tell us what extent did the Hansard of Jan. 6 incorrectly report proceedings?

W. WOOD.

Clean Up Back Too

Mr. Keen's advice to householders to clean-up and paint-up "front yards" is quite timely. But why the limitation?

Surely the back of the houses, which actually are seen more than the front, should also be painted and cleared of litter. The front and back appearance of any home should be of the same high standard.

It is pleasing to see large amounts of public funds being used to improve our city, and a great deal more can be done at negligible cost by property-owners themselves.

FROM WASHINGTON

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Preparatory Preparation

THERE have been some preparatory talks dealing with the question of how to get ready to prepare for a meeting, face to face at the summit, between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Khrushchev. Both sides know that there is no prospect whatever of any substantial agreement at such a meeting. And yet, as the cards have been dealt, the Soviet Union will score heavily if we can be induced by the pressure of public opinion to agree to hold a meeting. This means that somehow or other we have been out-manoeuvred and are being pushed into doing what we do not want to do.

Lippmann

With hindsight I think it is now fairly plain why and where we made the mistake when a few months ago the Russians first proposed a meeting at the summit. There were two alternative ways of reacting to their proposal.

One was to take it lightly and the other was to take it very seriously. To take it lightly would have been to say that we were ready for exploratory talks without prospect or pretence that a good settlement could or would come out of these talks. They would be talks which might, at the most, result in agreements to instruct the Foreign Ministers to explore certain questions.

Serious Reception

On the other hand, to take the Soviet proposal of a summit meeting seriously was to take the line we did take. It was to say that Eisenhower cannot talk with Khrushchev until Dulles has negotiated with Gromyko something important which Eisenhower and Khrushchev can then agree upon.

This serious reaction has proved to be a false move. The basic fact is that on neither side is there at present any willingness to concede anything substantial.

Our tactic has made it necessary for Mr. Dulles to be the opposition to a summit meeting. Yet much of the world is thinking wishfully that the President, once he got into a personal meeting, would prove to be flexible and conciliatory.

The Russians, who in all matters of substance are as unyielding as Mr. Dulles, are making the most of the notion that with Eisenhower personally something might be done to relax the tensions of the world.

The fact is that something might be done, given Eisenhower's temperament, desire to agree with the man he is seeing. But that is one of the powerful though unavowed reasons for the American opposition to a summit conference.

Khrushchev has said that summit agreements might be reached which could not be reached down below. A compelling reason for delaying or avoiding meeting at the summit is to keep the negotiations down below—that is to say in the hands of Secretary Dulles. For the prevailing official view in Washington is that no agreements can now be reached at the summit without making concessions that should not be made.

Is it too late to alter our tactic, and to take what I have been calling the lighter view of the Soviet proposal? We should it be too late?

Wrong Impression?

Is it because we have built up the impression that if there is a summit meeting at all, it will mean that Mr. Dulles has negotiated some sort of important agreement with the Soviet Union? There is such an impression.

The impression could be erased quickly enough if the President were to say that there has been enough note-writing and that he is prepared to go with Secretary Dulles to meet Mr. Khrushchev and Mr. Gromyko, say on board a ship, and for not more than a long weekend. He would like to discuss at this meeting the possibility of another and longer meeting later on.

I do not see what would be lost by such a move. Would Mr. Macmillan in France's leader object? Surely the world would know that nothing would be agreed to behind their backs.

Would the move relax the tension and cause the United States and the NATO allies, as it is commonly said, "to lower their guard"? If it did that the only thing to say is that we are a such fools anyhow that we are not to survive.

Rolls Not Best?

LONDON—A newspaper here, The People, has dared to challenge the widely-accepted statement, which is even used in the motor industry, that the Rolls-Royce is the best car in the world.

Priced at $15,900 for the least expensive model (the Silver Cloud) to $24,500 for the Hooper Limousine, the Rolls-Royce "ain't what she used to be," says the paper, and in future it should be advertised not as the best but merely the dearest car in the world.

This surely amounts to treason! But The People does its best to back up this claim by detailing a lengthy list of parts of the Rolls-Royce today which it feels fall far below the car's former best-in-the-world standards.

For instance... The old Rolls were built to last—it was thing to go a quarter of a million miles between rebore. They never used any material like rubber, which could perish, or there's all sorts of rubber in the Rolls, subject to heat and fuel corrosion. The Rolls used to have built-in hydraulic shocks—you just moved a small lever near the front seat and the car rose up. Now you have to lift two tons of car with ordinary mechanical jacks.

OUR HEALTH

Defects in Children

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation. As Dr. Robert H. Ivy, of Philadelphia, recently told the American Association of Plastic Surgeons, eight babies in every 1,000 are born with some physical defect. Among the five most common defects, in order of occurrence, are club feet, cleft lip or palate, extra finger, a spina bifida (a small tumor on the lower part of the spine) and the cleft of the two halves of the face (the cleft lip and the cleft palate).

Parents should remember that today club feet are generally being straightened out pretty well. A cleft lip or palate can be repaired. A superfluous finger can be removed, and a hypospadias is usually repaired. The spina bifida can sometimes be helped. In addition to these congenital defects, there are several types of acquired defects in the heart; there are the defects due to a failure of the brain to develop properly, there are big birth marks, and there are ruptures of several types.

When a child has one abnormality he is very likely to have several. About one in 10 of the children with a bad congenital abnormality will die within the first year. Sometimes, although this is hard to accept, the parents agree that this is a blessing.

TRANSPLANTING SKIN

Many a child who was badly burned should have skin grafted onto him. Even if skin taken from his mother does not survive more than a month or so, it may tide him over and save his life. For years experts in this field have been carrying out researches trying to find some way in which either the child or the person who gives the skin can be treated so that the child's body will not reject the transplant. Now, Dr. Lyndon J. Peer reports that grafts from a mother's skin sometimes will stay for several months. This is not true of grafts taken from the father.

Much work is being done, transplanting skin from one animal to another, and from these experiments much that is helpful is being learned.

JUVENILE OFFENDERS

Physicians and judges are beginning to learn that many young delinquents who go from one scrape to another are not suffering from a broken home or the type of mental trauma in childhood that is

The automatic gearbox, standard on their new cars, is not a product of Rolls-Royce. It's merely a U.S. automatic box, made under license from General Motors.

The Rolls used to have a huge battery made specially to Rolls-Royce specifications. Now, despite the size of the car, it is fitted with only a 57-amp. hour battery no bigger than that on an English Ford.

The dynamo, which used to be gear-driven from the engine, is now a standard belt-driven job as in the average British car. Now, if the belt breaks, "the best car in the world" is stranded.

The Rolls used to have a wonderful wheel hub, invented by Sir Henry Royce. No Rolls was ever stuck with wheel nut trouble—you just used a special spanner on this self-locking hub nut. Today the Rolls wheel hub is merely a dummy, with the ordinary wheel nuts as used in other cars underneath it. Etc., etc.

The Rolls-Royce reply is that their changes merely fit in with modern developments. For instance, wheel nuts of today are better than Sir Henry Royce's invention. Punctures are rare these days; why add to the weight of a car by an elaborate hydraulic jack system? Formerly rubber was not used merely because maintenance facilities throughout the world weren't what they are today. "It is not true," says Rolls-Royce, "that we are failing to keep the lead in the motor car world."

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

so loved by psychiatrists. No; these boys can be shown by tests to have a definitely abnormal brain which, in many cases, was inherited from some epileptic or psychotic ancestor.

Recently, navy doctors studied 2,000 consecutive patients as they came into the psychiatric hospital service. Ten per cent, or 200 of them, had peculiar slow waves in their electroencephalograms, waves much like those of an infant. Of the 200 cases, 30 showed a record typical of epilepsy. As one would expect of epileptics of a certain type, these individuals, when they were in school, were unruly and unable to respect the rights of their playmates. They often played truant. When they were between 17 and 25, they were rebellious against authority; they were too aggressive, and they were sexually promiscuous.

Not all of the delinquents showed the abnormal brain waves, but this did not exclude brain damage in their case because we know that 10 per cent of young people with definite epilepsy have a normal electroencephalogram. To me, the very significant point is that, from now on, judges should have these delinquents examined with the help of the electroencephalograph, and when they are found to have latent epilepsy, they should be treated as epileptics. Something, then, can perhaps be done for some of them to quiet their tendencies to violence.

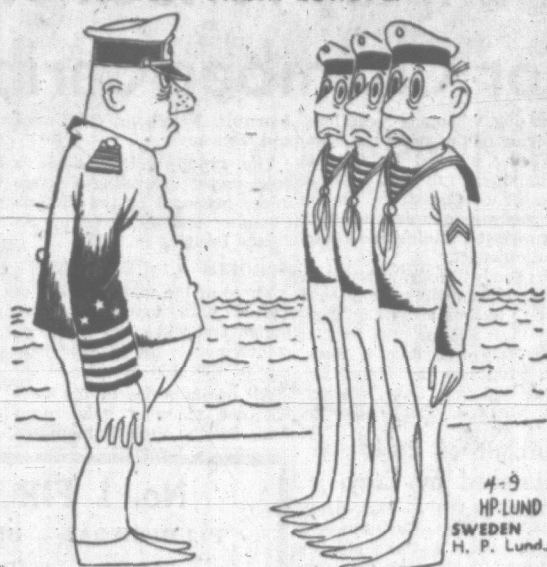

BLOOD TESTS

Recent studies reported by Drs. Leon N. Sussman and Sidney B. Schatkin, of New York City, showed that many men, when sued by a woman, give in and admit having fathered the child in question. But when blood tests are made, these show that one in 10 of the men could not possibly have been the father of the child. Since the blood tests usually used can clear only half of the falsely-accused men, we must conclude that about 20 per cent were not guilty. Other blood studies have shown that of the men who deny guilt as regards paternity, from 30 to 40 per cent must have been falsely accused.

This means that in every court, whenever a man denies paternity, he should be given the blood tests. These tests do not show that he is the father of the child, but in at least 50 per cent of the cases, they can show that he couldn't possibly be the father. Now, with a much larger battery of tests available, I understand this percentage is being raised.

It is said that jurists have been so ultra-conservative that many have not accepted the results of the blood tests that scientists know are absolutely accurate.

Sight, Touch Test For Soil Analysis

When it comes to soil, that is, indeed something which must be handled to be appreciated.

Apart from a professional soil analysis, much can be discovered by general appearance on close inspection and by the texture of the soil in the hand.

When extra soil must be purchased for a garden to lighten a heavy clay or because of depletion over many years of use, the gardener should find out what type of soil is available.

All good soil is not necessarily black. It is possible for a black soil to lack humus, and to be practically inert—that is, lacking in plant foods in available form.

It may also test so high on the acid scale as to inhibit the growth of most garden plants, including vegetables.

New Soviet Charges on 'War Fleet'

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia today extended its accusations of American preparations for nuclear war across the Arctic from the United States Air Force to the navy.

The Russian Navy newspaper Soviet Fleet says the U.S. is building two special icebreakers, activity "yet another link in a chain of aggressive measures of the United States in the Arctic."

Foreign Minister Gromyko charged last Friday that U.S. bombers carrying nuclear weapons threaten to touch off a world war by flying over the Arctic toward Russia.

Migrating Douks Face Russian Army Service

VANCOUVER (CP)—The province says military-age Sons of Freedom Doukhobors "will serve two years in the Soviet army if they carry out a proposed move to Siberia." Bert Beats River; Coast Swim Next

PORTLAND (AP) — Marathon swimmer Bert Thomas, who completed a 42-mile swim down the Columbia River Tuesday night, immediately began making plans for his next swim

BERT THOMAS
...tougher than Juan de Fuca

—the "20 miracle miles" along the northern Oregon coastline. He quit the Columbia River swim four miles short of his announced goal, when he disqualified himself by touching a photographers' boat that came too near. Thomas said he is not disappointed at not finishing the swim. "After all," he said, "I planned to swim from Bonneville Dam to Portland and I was well within the city's area when I quit." He said this swim was tougher than the Strait of Juan de Fuca. He had to fight whirlpools and two to four-foot waves all the way during the river swim, he said.

Canada 'Big Brother' For New Federation

TORONTO (CP) — Leonard Brockington said Tuesday night he hopes Canada will be a "big brother" to the new West Indies Federation and get the relationship off on the right foot with a little-needed assistance.

REPRESENTING ARMED FORCES of Canada as special aide de camp to Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, secretary of state, at the inauguration of the president of Argentina May 1 is Cmdr. C. H. Little, RCN. At present education officer at HMCS Stadacona, Halifax, Cmdr. Little was formerly command education officer on the staff of the flag officer, Pacific Coast.

'Gunplay', Mock Hanging For Chamber Cariboo Tour

Rousing, whooping receptions, smacking of the gold rush days, are being planned by Cariboo communities for the Victoria Chamber of Commerce centennial goodwill tour next week to the province's mining and cattle-raising district. The goodwill tour, to be taken by about 20 members, will leave the city by bus at 10 a.m. Sunday. The trip will take a week, with stopovers at Hope, Lillooet, Williams Lake, Barkerville, Quesnel, Prince George, Ashcroft, Kamloops, Chilliwack and Vancouver. The group will duplicate a gold escort from the Cariboo mines proposed by the Victoria Chamber and approved by Sir James Douglas in 1863. SCROLLS. Three of the members will be attired with topcoats of the period and will carry scrolls to commemorate the historic journey of the gold escort. All communities in the Cariboo are planning gala receptions for the Victoria members.

Lillooet has decreed a half-holiday for school children as part of the reception to greet the Victorians on their arrival at the cowtown. Cowboys will "shoot-up" the town and a mock hanging will be staged for the benefit of the visitors. At Barkerville there will also be a big reception. At Prince George, Victorians will be host at a big barbecue on Wednesday. The tour will return to Victoria next Saturday after spending a few hours in Vancouver.

'Butcher of Paris' Reprised by Coty

PARIS (AP) — The death sentence of Gen. Karl Albrecht Oberg, known as "the butcher of Paris" during the war was commuted to life imprisonment Tuesday by President Rene Coty. He and Col. Helmut Knochen were condemned by a French military tribunal Oct. 9, 1954, on charges of executing more than 1,000 French hostages. Knochen's sentence also was commuted.

Dinner Tonight To Celebrate St. George's Day

Origin Shrouded In Myth, Mystery

Although St. George, the patron saint of England, is considered to be the staidest of the four patron saints of the British Isles his memory is being commemorated today by groups of Englishmen all over the world.

In the Scot. St. Andrew arouses an incandescent patriotic fervor and St. Patrick's Day impels an Irishman to battle cheerfully with his neighbor.

For nearly 500 years, however, the cry of "St. George for England" in its many versions has always preceded some incredibly brave and sometimes incredibly foolish military action.

At Agincourt, Crecy, Poitiers, Patay, Trafalgar, and latterly at the epic Royal Navy raid on Zeebrugge and Ostend in 1918, English arms have been impelled into battle by the same slogan.

Songs, Toasts

In Victoria this year the day will be celebrated formally by members of the Royal Society of St. George at a dinner to-night.

Guests at the roast beef dinner which starts at 6.45 p.m. in the Strathcona Hotel will be Cmdr. E. M. Chadwick, C.D., RCN, representing Rear-Admiral H. S. Rayner, and Victoria MLA George Gregory.

Songs, recitals, and toasts will honor the saint and William Shakespeare whose estimated birthday, by happy coincidence, falls on April 23.

More so than his better known fellow saints in the British Isles, the origin of St. George is shrouded in myth and mystery.

A reliable authority states that the only verifiable fact about his history seems to be his martyrdom at Lydda in Palestine.

Rose Rapidly

According to legend St. George was born in AD 270 at Lydda, entered the Roman army at 17 years of age, rose rapidly to the rank of Tribune and was finally martyred for adhering to his Christian faith.

Whether martyred soldier or, in the opinion of the historian Edward Gibbon a lynched tyrannical archbishop, his death brought him immediate fame and recognition from, nearly every Christian sect as an authentic martyr.

His name and red cross symbol were adopted by the crusaders and so wide was his popularity that at one time he had to his credit seven countries and eight knightly orders exclusive of England and her Order of the Garter.

National Festival

In England the council of Oxford ordered that his feast day be kept a national festival in 1222 but it was not until the late 14th century that Edward III ordained him patron saint of the kingdom.

Somewhere in the late sixth century the saint became associated with the dragon killing legend which is now his personal symbol today.

The slaying of a sea monster by Perseus in Greek mythology allegedly took place at Joppa which is close to Lydda and some historians believe this may have something to do with the myth.

The early church was quick to adopt the pagan dragon slaying symbol as a tribute to the victory of saintly piety over the forces of evil.

Whatever his history of St. George remains, not as a hero, but a symbol of a people and as such his memory will be commemorated this year and years to come by Englishmen wherever they are in the world.

Teamsters May Spread Waterfront Blockade

NEW YORK (AP)—Teamster pickets threatened to extend their waterfront blockade to Port Newark and Hoboken in New Jersey Tuesday as incoming freight continued to pile up on New York piers. The driver pickets are supporting 200 truck firm owners in their week-long boycott of New York piers.

Trail Gets Apology From Bing Crosby For Unkind Jibes

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — Mayor
Leslie Read told council Monday night he has received an apology from crooner Bing Crosby for remarks the singer made about Trail in a recent magazine article.

Mayor Read had protested to Crosby against the crooner's suggestion that Trail is a city of smoke and grime, unworthy of its beautiful setting.

Crosby said in his reply:
"I am very happy to learn of the great improvement along city beautifying lines in Trail, and sorry I did not know of this before my erroneous statement about smelter gases."

"You may have heard we have similar trouble here in Los Angeles called 'smog.' Sample can of the stuff being forwarded you, in separate package. Maybe your experts can help us. What did you get, for what, and how, from the smelter smoke?"

Mayor Read told council he will find some suitable Trail memento to send Crosby.

BOB HOPE TAKES OFF THE MAKE-UP

Here's Bob (no joking around) Hope with the grease paint off and without gags. For, in this week's Saturday Evening Post, comedy's great veteran takes a serious look at the things he knows best — including himself, show business and the current young crop of TV comedians.

Hope tells:

- why he believes Jackie Glen-son and Milton Berle lost their topflight TV billing.

- his candid opinions of Sid
Caesar, Frank Sinatra, Gisele
MacKenzie and Perry Como.

- why TV critics often intentionally try to tear a show down.

- his own formula for staying on top.

Be sure to read "I Call on Bob Hope" by Pete Martin.

THANK YOU CANADA FOR GROWING THE BEST TOBACCO

As Canadians, we should be proud of our tobacco-growing industry which, before the Rothmans era, was little known. Now almost everyone has heard of the successful auction method of marketing tobacco, and Canada's tobacco farmers are receiving record prices for their crops.

Here's what the U.S. Government thinks of our Canadian tobacco-growing industry . . .

U.S. DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE FEARS COMPETITION FROM CANADIAN TOBACCO

(As reprinted from the Toronto Telegram, March 8.)

WASHINGTON — (CP) — The U.S. Department of Agriculture took a look at the Canadian tobacco industry, pronounced it healthy and warned U.S. growers they can expect more export competition from the Canadian leaf.

That Putter's Part of John

John Merriman, the unassuming 25-year-old Gorge Vale sharpshooter, has emerged as a strong hope to walk off with the Victoria Daily Times Trophy and the Vancouver Island Open golf championship this year.

Merriman faces Colwood's Ted Colgate, a former champion, in one semifinal test next Sunday at Uplands, while pro Laurie Carroll and Dr. George Bigelow fight it out for the right to step into the other berth.

Merriman, certainly no stranger as far as city golf circles are concerned, continues to amaze everybody with his masterful putting. While others flounder on the green, John moves along steadily, if not always spectacularly.

Golfers who change their style every week, and their putter every second week, may do well to pay attention to a part of the Merriman story.

John has never used another putter or any other stance since he first took up the game more than a dozen years ago. The putter in his bag today is the same club his father first handed him when John was a small lad.

Cedar Hill Golf Club, which leads all city courses in the hole-in-one department, marked down two more aces last weekend.

Both were chalked up Saturday. Art Hanley used a nine iron to sink his tee shot on the 120-yard ninth while veteran Tom Lane scored his ace on the 130-yard sixth, using a five iron.

Tom Jefferson, Ernie MacMillan and John Cook witnessed Hanley's ace, while Lane scored his first hole-in-one in 62 years of golfing playing in a threesome with H. A. Wickstrom and V. Walsh.

One Canadian and 10 Americans were listed Monday among golfers exempt from qualifying for the British amateur championship at St. Andrews June 2-7.

The Royal and Ancient announced that 23 golfers would go straight into the championship. All the other entries must qualify—the first time qualifying has been introduced in the 73-year-old tournament.

The exempt Canadian is Adjutor Dussault of Quebec City. Prominent among the 10 Americans are old campaigners Frank Strafaci of Miami, Fla., making his ninth attempt to win the title, and Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia, a favorite with British crowds.

Others who will play in the championship without qualifying include: defending champion Reid Jack, Scotland; John Montgomerie, Scottish champion; Joe Carr, Irish champion.

A number of golf professionals will often recommend that a player practice in front of a mirror in an effort to pick out some of the flaws in the swing.

There's a lot to be said for that. If you care to go a little farther there are movies. Norm Boden, assistant pro at Gorge Vale, went for movies recently and was extremely surprised at the result.

"I didn't even recognize myself," Norm commented. "You can certainly pick out all the flaws that otherwise might be missed."

Now, it transpires, a California scientist has invented a stroboscopic device designed to help build a good swing.

It is an instrument for studying motion by light.

Professor Luis W. Alvarez has received a patent. The patent attorney said one has been given to President Eisenhower and is used in the White House.

Bright flashes illuminate the clubhouse at four or five points as it approaches and hits the ball. Glimpses of the illuminated head are so distinct that the player can tell whether he has the face of the club at the proper angle and whether it meets the ball squarely. He can correct any tendencies to slice, hook or top the ball.

Golf Course Sold

MONTREAL (CP)—The 27-hole Elmridge Golf Club in suburban Dorval has been sold for $1,000,000 to Montreal businessman Joel Sternthal. His plans for the course were not disclosed.

Club officials last year decided to relocate the course. However, they are expected to retain occupancy for another year or two at the present site.

Par Competition

Mrs. S. A. Maddocks captured "A" division laurels in the ladies' monthly par competition at Victoria Golf Club Tuesday with a score of 2-down.

Mrs. E. L. Keyes topped "B" division entrants with a count of 2-up and Mrs. A. Guilford fired a score of 2-up to lead "C" division.

TIME OUT! BY KEATHE

Boxing Brass Believes Bread Buttered by TV

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Boxing has been taken over by television. Truman Gibson admitted today on becoming president of the International Boxing Club, and like many other phases of teevee entertainment it lays its share of eggs.

"We basically are in the television business," said the 46-year-old Chicago attorney who succeeded the ailing Jim Norris as IBC head. "We have had repercussions from the sponsors from time to time but have had a free hand so far in arranging our shows."

What kind of repercussions?

"Well," he said quietly, "some times, like after the Eddie Machen-Zora Folley bout, the sponsors say they were disappointed because they expected a helluva fight. We tell 'em... we did too."

WHO'S IMPORTANT?

Gibson asserts that he hopes the time will never arrive when there will be no live audiences at boxing shows. But he left no doubt it had to come to a choice between the magic camera and the in-the-flesh fight fan, the fight fan would have to go.

Gibson, the new head of the IBC, is a man who speaks with quiet firmness and makes it evident that he isn't going to sit still like his predecessor and let anybody libel him—in print or out.

"Norris was one of those people who were inclined to let such things slide by," he said. "But if people make such direct charges at me as they did at him, I'll give 'em a chance to prove it in court."

Nor, he allowed, would the IBC dignify the attacks of Cus D'Amato, manager of heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, who has said that he will not bargain for a title defence under IBC sponsorship until the promotional outfit gives up one of its two weekly fight telecasts.

IT'S IN PRINT

"Our Friday night television contracts run through September, 1959, and our Wednesday night fights through May of 1959," he said. "We have no cancellation provisions—so we have no prospects of staging a heavyweight championship."

The IBC organization will remain just as it was under Norris. Joe Louis will be retained as a $20,000 a year "director of boxing"; Billy Brown will stay on as matchmaker, and the only difference is that Gibson, a University of Chicago law graduate who served on several presidential commissions, will pull the strings.

But Gibson made it plain that he would not hold still for the "libelous" remarks. If and when he takes libel action against anyone, he added, he wouldn't act as his own counsel.

"A man who is his own lawyer has a fool for a client," the dapper Gibson explained. So the drama critics had better be careful...

Ontario League Woes Brantford

BRANTFORD (CP)—The Ontario Rugby Football Union has asked Brantford to consider a senior entry in 1958.

Mayor M. Sherman said he has received a letter from J. F. MacPherson of Sarnia Golden Bears, one of the ORFU's four senior teams, suggesting Brantford as an ideal location for a senior entry.

Mayor Sherman is turning the suggestion over to officials of Brantford Tiger-Cats, an ORFU intermediate team last season.

Tragedy At Niagara Falls

The ice bridge below Niagara Falls was "safe" enough—it was 80 feet thick! But suddenly a man and woman, and a boy who had turned back to help them, were adrift on the ice... headed for Whirlpool Rapids!

In May Reader's Digest find out what happened that tragic day as crowds lined the gorge and firemen lowered rescue ropes. Get your May Reader's Digest today: 36 articles of lasting interest, condensed from current books and magazines to save you time.

Uplands Pairing Takes Net Title

Mrs. C. English and Mrs. L. Rutter, of Uplands, captured net honors in the annual Canadian Ladies' Golf Union foursomes tournament when they combined for a 79 in the qualifying round at Gorge Vale Golf Club Monday.

Fifty teams from city clubs are entered. Teams move into flight play Friday at Uplands, with the first foursomes moving off the tee at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. M. Bowden and Mrs. R. O. Alexander, with a net 80½, were runners-up in the medal round. The Gorge Vale pairing

Special Attention To Top Prospects

MONTREAL (CP)—A program to develop promising tennis players between the ages of 18 and 20 for international competition has been announced by the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association.

Paul Haynes, president of the CLTA, said Brendan Macken, of Montreal, has been appointed director of the project to establish provincial guidance committees. Macken is a former Canadian singles champion.

A junior Davis Cup team will be formed, with players selected from regional tournaments, and matches arranged with United States players.

STORM OF PROTEST has been raised by municipal officials over the revenue graph shown at right in this breakdown of the 1958 budget for the Greater Victoria school system. Taxpayers in the district will have to contribute 52.75 per cent of the cost, representing an increase of $434,079, while the government's share at 44.51 per cent represents an increase of only $234,976 under the new formula.

Province School Grants Boosted In 66 Districts

A comparative scale of provincial school grants for 1957 and 1958, issued by the education department Tuesday, shows 66 out of 103 school districts will receive increased aid this year.

Thirty-two districts will receive less and grants to five will be almost unchanged.

The schedule shows educational aid by the province to Victoria will be increased $201,000 this year, for a record total of $2,275,456.

NOT IN PROPORTION

Many school districts have complained, however, that school costs have increased in greater proportion than the assistance grants, and, in effect, the percentage of provincial aid is less.

Reductions in government aid are due to an increase in local assessments. In fast-growing Alberni, for instance, the government grants are reduced this year from $498,901 to $279,705.

BREAK-DOWN OF AID

Here are comparative figures for other island school districts, with 1957 figures in brackets:

Sooke $307,056 (down $1,800); Saanich, $369,088 (up $40,000); Salt Spring, $117,530 (up $20,000); Cowichan, $334,983 (down $81,000); Lake Cowichan, $159,274 (same); Ladysmith, $308,549 (up $51,000); Nanaimo, $652,185 (up $85,000); Qualicum, $234,515 (up $3,500); Courtenay, $600,601 (up $63,000); Campbell River, $268,049 (up $50,000); and Alert Bay, $96,845 (down $9,000).

Dickens Club Re-Elects Watherston

E. F. Watherston was unanimously re-elected president of the Dickens Fellowship Victoria branch, at its annual meeting Monday night.

Henry W. Maunsell was elected vice-president, Mrs. Dorothy H. White secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Dorothy Bradbury hostess.

The branch discussed plans for a lecture-recital to be given in Victoria next October by Jack Graves, an official of the Dickens Fellowship in London, Eng., who is to make a cross-Canada tour in the fall.

Readings from Dickens' novel, "Martin Chuzzlewit," were given by Mrs. E. J. Spitsbury and Ronald Narracott.

Brisbane, capital of Queensland in Australia, has a population of 530,000, compared with 250,000 in 1925.

Funeral Held Here For Former Albertan

Funeral service was held recently for Mrs. Margaret Alice Williams, 81, of 833 Leslie, who died in Victoria April 15.

Mrs. Williams lived in Edmonton until 1948, where she was a charter member of the Edmonton Women's Canadian Club and a member of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire and the Edmonton Musical Club.

A teacher, she also was active in the Junior Red Cross and amateur theatricals for children.

She lived in Victoria for the past 10 years. Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. F. C. V. McKenney, Duncan; Mrs. F. O. Roth, Edmonton; and Mrs. A. Cyril Thomas, Victoria; one son, Harry Kilpatrick, Calgary, and six grandchildren.

Defiant Alderman Stays

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER.—A bid to fire Ald. Jack Cornett as a Vancouver representative on the Greater Vancouver water board was defeated Tuesday in a 6-5 vote by city council.

Ald. Cornett had defied city council's instruction and opposed a fluoridation measure put to the board by Vancouver.

In a vigorous exchange, Ald. Cornett was asked whether he would oppose fluoridation if a majority of other municipalities on the board eventually favor the move. He replied he didn't think it was a relevant question and added it was his privilege to vote any way he wished.

The council also carried a motion to fire any representatives to boards within the city if they didn't follow orders.

TOT KILLED BY TRUCK

VANCOUVER.—Three-year-old David Clearie was killed Tuesday night when struck by a loaded lumber truck in Vancouver's East End. The driver of the truck said he did not see the youngster.

BOER WAR VET DIES

VANCOUVER.—William Hepburn, 87, who at the age of 18 stormed the Dargal Heights in India with the 1st Gordon Highlanders during the bitter Tirak campaign for control of the Khyber Pass, died in hospital here. He also served in the Boer War and enlisted with the 1st Canadian Mounted Rifles during the First World War.

DEATH RULED ACCIDENT

VANCOUVER.—A coroner's jury of three seamen and three longshoremen ruled on Tuesday that 24-year-old Eric Vaughan Jones of Wales died accidentally in a fall aboard a British freighter, but made recommendations for improved safety in unloading operations.

Jones, a crew member of the Portland Star, fell to his death in the hold last Friday while the vessel was docked here and unloading cargo.

Atom Sub to Visit Puget Sound Ports

WASHINGTON (AP).—The navy's atomic submarine Nautilus will visit the Puget Sound region in June, it was reported today.

The sub is scheduled to call at Port Angeles and Everett June 23 and be in Seattle June 28.

The visits, second for the Nautilus in this area, will be made in conjunction with a two-month Pacific Ocean cruise, the navy said.

POLICEMAN'S LOT IS NOT A HAPPY ONE

PASADENA, Calif. (AP).—This is a week that traffic officer Walter Kilgore will remember.

Monday he lost his motorcycle. Tuesday he lost his pants.

The motorcycle went up in smoke while the frustrated officer stood by, listening to its radio ordering him to proceed to a fire. Kilgore was there.

Two deer wandered into a heavily populated area Tuesday, and Kilgore was ordered to disperse them. He arrived, on his new motorcycle, and grappled with one of the deer. Kilgore's pants were well gone.

Fellow officers provided a cover of decency and escorted the still sore Kilgore back to the station house.

32 Education Hearings Scheduled

VANCOUVER (CP).—Hearings of the B.C. Royal Commission on Education will be held in 32 centres and likely will not be completed until June, 1959, Dean S. N. F. Chant of University of B.C., commission chairman, said Tuesday.

Dean Chant said the first hearing will be in Lillooet during the last week of next month, but a precise schedule is not yet complete.

"One of the major aims of the commission is to encourage public interest and to know its opinions," the dean said. He said about 20 "letter briefs" so far have been received from individuals on various aspects of the B.C. school system.

Sentenced to Death

ALGIERS (Reuters).—A French military tribunal at Oran condemned to death Tuesday six Algerian insurgents accused of killing one person and injuring 20 others in a bomb attack in October, 1956, at Colomb Bechar.

MLA BACKS PROTESTS

VANCOUVER (CP).—A Social Credit member of the Legislature agreed Tuesday with city council that Vancouver is entitled to more members in the Legislature and better treatment on provincial highway grants.

Vancouver East MLA Fred Sharp, at his own request, met with city council to answer recent criticisms, particularly on school grants. Mr. Sharp agreed with Ald. Reg Atherton that Vancouver—because of its population—is entitled to more members and a greater voice in the Legislature.

CASE OF BREAKING, ENTERING

Trail of debris leading into this tidy front garden was caused when the auto shown, driven by Ljos Marosa, 1152 Leonard, was in collision Tuesday evening with a car owned by Heinz Wirth, 47 Menzies, parked on Menzies.

MONTE ROBERTS

It is seldom I do anything about anonymous letters. Including reading them. But one arrived today which intrigues me, despite the fact I had to call in a handwriting expert to decipher it. As closely as the expert and I can figure out, the letter says:

"You say you are a native son. Do you want a medal for it, there is a lot of native sons in Canada, they are the same as the Ku Klux Klan in the States."

"I know a little boy about two years of age that is a native son, and every time he opens his big mouth he tells it to the whole civilized world."

"I also know a lot more native sons here and they have no use for the English or anything that comes from England."

"I have found out that the average native son would not give his fellow man the right time. They are too miserable. 'Doc Yak.'"

The reason this letter intrigues me is, I didn't realize there was resentment against those of us whose parents had enough sense to be in this country when we were born.

It is possible that "Doc Yak" is making an attempt at humor, but from the tone of his letter, I don't think so. And it is also possible—just barely—that we native sons are a bit insufferable.

It is a little hard not to be smug about being a native son of this, the fairest city of them all.

On the other hand, as My Favorite Wife, who was born over 'ome, points out, native sons are Canadians by accident. SHE and her compatriots who now live here are Canadians by choice.

It disturbs me to think there are people like "Doc Yak." After all, it must be possible for Canadians by accident and Canadians by choice to live in peaceful co-existence.

Still I can't help but close with a quote from Rudyard Kipling—who was an Englishman's Englishman if anyone ever was.

"British Columbia . . . If I had known what it was like, I wouldn't have been content with a mere visit. I'd have been born here."

There I go, opening my big mouth again like any two-year-old native son.

DOUGLAS SHRIMPTON

Victorian Wins Fellowship To Study in U.S.

Douglas M. Shrimpton, 23, of 2248 Edgemoor, has been awarded a $2,760 fellowship to attend the University of Chicago this fall. UBC information office announced today.

Mr. Shrimpton received the Charles and Frances Hutchinson fellowship which will enable him to work on his PhD in plant physiology. A UBC graduate in plant physiology, he will receive his MA degree at the May congregation.

Mr. Shrimpton attended Mount Douglas High School and Victoria College here. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Shrimpton.

College Project All Set

One-Floor Addition For Ewing Building

Plans to add a third floor to the Ewing Building at Victoria College were announced today by deputy public works minister Clive Campbell.

The addition will provide space for one large classroom, a smaller classroom, a large student activity room and offices.

Construction, slated to start in June, should be completed by September college opening, Mr. Campbell said.

With college enrolment expected to reach 1,000 by 1960, the plans provide for conversion of the third floor to eight classrooms sometime in the future.

COMPROMISE

Dr. W. H. Hickman, principal, stressed today the addition is "only a compromise and a stop-gap."

"We shall require one new building a year for five years to provide for the natural growth that will take place," he said.

The addition will release the large student activity room in the basement of the building for library expansion.

"Even that extension will be just temporary," head librarian Albert Pratt said. "In two years we will be cramped for space again."

JAMMED

Library shelves are now jammed to capacity, he said, at a time when the college is purchasing some 5,000 new books a year.

The present reading room seats only one-third of the student body.

Cost of the addition has not been estimated, the deputy minister said. Plans will not be finished until late May.

Meanwhile—as another "stop-gap" the college council has decided to purchase three huts from Gordon Head Army Camp.

They will be transferred to the campus in May, Dr. Hickman said.

One will be used to supply the cafeteria, another for an addition to the chemistry laboratory hut, and the third for student activity rooms and faculty offices or lecture rooms.

Quadra Island To Get New Power Cable

Replacement of the B.C. Power Commission's 13,800-volt transmission line span across Seymour Narrows to Quadra Island will begin next week. Col. D. C. Stevenson, senior construction engineer, announced today.

The original span, erected in 1956, was destroyed in the Ripple Rock blast April 5. Since that time 100 Quadra Island customers have received their power from a 200-HP diesel generating set.

Col. Stevenson said the replacement job will be undertaken by a Power Commission construction division crew under the supervision of W. G. Risk, construction superintendent, Alberni. He said the new span will be in the exact location of the initial 3,227-foot, triple conductor span but will have four cables and will be slightly longer and higher.

Wood pole structures on either side of the Narrows which were extensively damaged by the blast have been replaced. Permanent aerial markers will be substituted by two-foot diameter aluminum spheres.

Quarterly convention of the Provincial Command, Army, Navy and Air Force veterans in Canada, will be held in local unit No. 12 headquarters, 1001 Wharf Street, Saturday at 10 a.m.

Greater Victoria Citizenship Council will hold a welcome ceremony for new Canadians receiving their citizenship papers at the court house Thursday morning.

Dr. W. H. Hickman, Victoria College principal, will speak at the ceremony at the T. Eaton Co.

A new hall at Esquimalt branch Canadian Legion will be opened tonight at 7 p.m. by Commodore (E) J. B. Caldwell, RCN. Reeve A. C. Wurtele and other dignitaries will attend. A dance will be held to climax the opening week, Friday.

MAYOR CARRIE JANE GRAY

Woman Mayor Protests At Probe Here

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Mayor Carrie Jane Gray, woman mayor of Prince George, appeared before the Borden Commission on Energy today to protest the "highly discriminatory price" her city is being asked to pay for Peace River natural gas.

She is the only woman to appear before the commission since hearings opened at the Empress Hotel Monday.

Slim and quiet-voiced, Mayor Gray spoke in support of a brief presented jointly by the Prince George Gas Co. and the City of Prince George and read by Hume Wright, executive vice-president of the company.

McMAHON SCHEDULED

Frank McMahon, president of West Coast Transmission Co., was to address the commission this afternoon.

The Prince George brief stated that an average wholesale price of 83 cents per thousand cubic feet of gas was being asked of the city. It added that the Prince George company, with the support of the city, has refused to pay this price.

Mayor Gray claimed there was "no logical justification on any grounds" for trying to force Prince George to pay this price.

Mayor Gray said when the Prince George Gas Co. received the franchise from the city, it received the full support of the city.

"All the company has ever sought to do is to construct a four and a half mile connecting line from Prince George to the Westcoast Transmission line and to purchase a supply of gas from Westcoast at the regular Westcoast rate."

The mayor stated that Prince George had not asked for special treatment because the city was located near the gas fields.

GATE PRICE The gate price at Prince George worked out at 54 cents a thousand feet at the regular Westcoast rate.

"This is about 20 cents more than Inland and the B.C. Electric pay. It is also more than the flat gate price of 45 cents for a small U.S. community buying the same Canadian gas from the same Peace River fields."

Mayor Gray admitted that sale of Canadian natural gas in the U.S. was justified because B.C. has no large markets to absorb it—as yet. She added:

"If our natural gas continues to be wholesaled in Canada at 50 per cent higher prices than in the U.S., we never will have big industrial markets to absorb it."

The brief presented by Mr. Wright stated in terms of load factors involved, the proposed price at Prince George was "close to four times the export price."

Applying the same load factor, "Prince George is being asked to pay 50 per cent more than other B.C. Utilities."

Saanich Roads To Get Facelift

$108,000 Project Given Works Committee Approval

A two-year $108,000 road improvement program for Saanich was approved Tuesday by the council's public works committee.

The program calls for the application this summer of an asphalt seal coat and pea gravel surface on 13 miles of road in the Gorge district at a cost of about $28,000.

The committee also approved the application of a penetrating coat—liquid asphalt—on about 20 miles of gravel roads in other parts of the municipality. It will cost about $80,000.

Work on this project will start next year.

On the Gorge project, 40 roads are involved in an area bounded by Harriet Road on the east, Battleford Avenue and Colquitz Creek on the north, Portage Inlet on the west, and Victoria Arm on the south.

The municipality will pay $12,000 towards the cost of the project.

Property owners in the area each will pay $7 for one year only.

The committee approved the project under section 513 of the Municipal Act which does not require council to submit a money bylaw for road improvements and maintenance.

It is the first time Saanich has made use of this section of the act which enables municipalities to tax property owners without first seeking their approval.

TOO COSTLY

Coun. George Chatterton said the committee approved the program because the state of the roads in the Gorge area were proving too costly to maintain.

"Many of the roads have a black top surface which are badly in need of repairs," he said. "It was felt that if the base of the roads were improved and a proper seal coat applied, it would bring down the cost of maintenance."

He said council was trying to get away from the past policy of patching roads here and there.

DIDN'T LAST

"It is too costly," he said. "Last year Saanich spent $160,000 on road maintenance—most of it on patch work which did not last."

The committee decided to wait until next year before making a start on improving the gravel roads.

The municipality will only share a part of the cost for this project.

The committee estimated that it would cost property owners $20 each for improving the gravel roads. This would be collected in taxes over a period of two or three years.

Gravel roads involved are mostly those situated outside the sewer area or fringing the urban districts.

He also submitted a sketch showing markings on the rear floor of the truck which corresponded to wheel measurements of the safe.

A variety of tools and an envelope containing insulation material commonly used in office safes were submitted by Cpl. Edward E. James, RCMP crime detective laboratory, Regina.

INSULATION SOURCE Insulation material found on tools "could have originated from the same source as the insulation material in the envelope," he told the court.

The material also was found on a pair of trousers and boots, he said.

Fibres taken from a ripped edge of the safe corresponded in most regards to denim trousers, boots, jackets and gloves submitted to the detection lab for tests, Const. William R. Picton testified.

He was found guilty a week ago of flying an unregistered aircraft and flying an aircraft with a certificate of registration on board. Gillespie was remanded for sentence to next Tuesday.

Cases were heard before Magistrate H. C. Hall, acting for the justice department as a stipendiary magistrate.

Higher Court Trial Ordered For Brothers

Hearing Completed In Sooke Safe Theft

Mail was set at $10,000 each. The brothers are charged jointly with breaking, entering and theft of $8,000 in cash, cheques and securities from Walter Conder Real Estate Ltd.

Roy also is charged with possession of an offensive weapon and of explosives.

More than 13 exhibits, including clothing, tools, tire impressions and photographs, were entered Tuesday by prosecutor Lloyd G. McKenzie at the hearing in Victoria RCMP detachment.

TIRE MARKINGS Staff Sgt. John H. S. Jones, in charge of the identification section, Victoria RCMP, testified tire markings from a Ford panel truck at Camp Barnard Boy Scout camp in Sooke—where the smashed safe was found—were "similar" to tire markings outside the realty office.

He also submitted a sketch showing markings on the rear floor of the truck which corresponded to wheel measurements of the safe.

City Student Wins $1,200 Scholarship

John R. G. Pritchard, 23, of Victoria has been awarded a $1,200 scholarship, tenable in Canada, by the National Research Council, it was announced today in Vancouver.

He is one of 41 University of British Columbia graduates awarded scholarships by the research council.

Born in Victoria he was educated at Mount View High School and Victoria College before enrolling at the University of B.C. He was graduated in 1957 with a degree in physics, and is presently working toward his master's degree.

Similar awards were made to David J. Huntley of Brentwood Bay and Mary Todd, Esquimalt.

Bursaries of $1,000 each were granted George T. Needler, Nanaimo; Gerard H. Gubbeis, Victoria; Michael Schulzer, Victoria, and Gael Stott, Victoria.

Post-doctorate overseas fellowships of $2,700 each were awarded Howard N. Rundle, now at the University of Saskatchewan, and D. S. Bowring, now at McGill. Both men will go to Cambridge.

Welfare Worker Appointed Researcher for Strachan

A provincial social welfare worker at Haney, John H. Wood, has been appointed research secretary to the leader of the opposition in B.C.

The new post was approved at the last session of the legislature at the request of CCF leader Robert Strachan.

Mr. Wood, 39, married with two children, was educated in England and served in wartime with the Royal Artillery. He was later pensions and welfare officer of the British Legion in Scotland and served on a British government advisory committee on veterans' affairs. The appointment is effective May 16.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. I own three-quarters of an acre of land with a home on it and have lived here 10 years. Should they continue to widen this road (Downey Road, Sidney) our well, fruit and few shrubs will be in danger. Can they take this from us without recompense? E.S.

A. If the acreage is your personal property, and the highways department needs it, there is a scale of values the department uses for payments. There is recompense. Only time there is no recompense is if the property is Crown land without improvements on it.

Centennial Tablecloths Imported From Ireland

By PENNY SAVER

Cover your meal table with centennial cheer! Or should I say cover it with a custom made British Columbia centennial tablecloth, made especially for this big year, in the linen country, Ireland. With a white background, symbols of our fair province are woven in bright reds, blues and yellows all over the cloth.

There are pictures of totem poles, mountains, trees and the Parliament Buildings. It's wonderful for price too. Just $1.25! How about buying a few to send to out-of-the-province friends?

Giving a shower for a bride-elect? Why not make it a linen shower? Housewives can never have too many tablecloths, pillow slips and towels.

There are some wonderful buys in linen just now, such as pastel-toned dinner sets.

Pure Irish linen 52 by 70-inch cloths complete with a set of four napkins are selling at $6.50 a set. Colors are pink, blue, green and yellow.

Match your tea cloths and tea towels to your china set! How? Well the shop I visited this morning had a wide selection of well-known china patterns woven in to pure linen tea cloths. Among the prints was the Blue Willow plate and of course... a Wedgwood pattern! They're fast color items selling at $1 each.

For the lady with a modern outlook, there is a set of the most attractive luncheon mats. Hand-loomed, these mats are washable and come in a wide range of shades. A set of four is $3.95.

How thoughtful! That's the way I felt when I opened an envelope from a friend recently. A lovely linen handkerchief popped out with a gay floral design on the corner. It's nothing to send such a tiny gift through the mail... not when it brings such cheer! I've found just the hankies you'll want to send to friends. They're priced at 50 cents each. Why, they are hand-embroidered too!

Phone me at 2-3131 if you'd like to know where I've been shopping.

Thanksgiving — Mrs. A. C. Hamill of Emmanuel Baptist Church addressed a thanksgiving meeting of First United Church afternoon auxiliary of Women's Missionary Society recently. Her topic was "Mountaintop Experiences." Mrs. W. J. McIntyre presided and led devotions. Mrs. J. Boyd was soloist. A social hour followed at which Mrs. James Parry and committee served refreshments.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Ten Pounds 'Over'? Play Clothes Are Out

Don't be lulled by "the sack." It may not be with us for long and anyway many of you will want to wear two-piece swim suits and play clothes very soon!

These garments are impossible looking when worn by a woman who is even 10 pounds overweight. This is especially true when she has a pad of fat over her diaphragm (the area just below the bust and above the waist).

I mentioned recently that the diaphragm is a stubborn spot and without exercise may cling to its fatty deposits even when the pounds are dropping away.

The two-piece bathing suit is most becoming to many types of figure. Therefore I am concentrating on exercise which will slim this portion of the body. You have to lose those 10 pounds, too, though!

Circus time is again approaching. This makes me wonder if you ever have noticed how smoothly muscled and yet slim of figure the feminine artists of the high wire are? No fat on their diaphragms!

Perhaps the nearest thing to a high wire in your life is the clothesline in the backyard, but you still can do stretching which will slim this measurement. Remember also to carry yourself so that the distance between your waist and your bust is the longest possible. This is one of the requirements of a lovely figure.

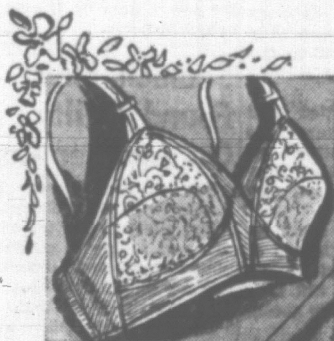

Exercise: Stand tall with your feet comfortably separated. Bend your elbows and place your fingertips on your shoulders. Keep your hands in this position as you bend back toward the right. Hold a few moments. Return trunk to upright position. Continue. Do this slowly, feeling the pull over your diaphragm.

Yesterday I printed the last of the menus of my Nine-Day Reducing Diet which gives you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days. If you missed out on it, you still can have the complete diet in a convenient little booklet. Send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Nine-Day Diet booklet to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

HAIR STYLES SHORTER; RETURN TO SHINGLE

LONDON (AP)—Milady's hair styles this year will match her skirts—both are getting shorter and shorter, British hairdressers were told.

Harold J. Semmens, head of the ancient London organization known as the Guild of Hairdressers, Wigmakers and Perfumers, told the annual meeting:

"And now that the fashion designers have agreed to raise the hemline, hair styles will become very much shorter this year—even a 'return to the shingle worn with a variety of fringes is foreseen.'"

How most girls and women got relief from SPECIAL FEMALE PAIN, DISTRESS!

Tests show both monthly cramps and tension, and "hot flashes" of change-of-life, may be effectively relieved by tablets specially created for women.

Is "female suffering" handicapping women as it did in grandmother's day? NO—not among those who rely on scientific findings to get relief! They find such suffering in most cases can be relieved!

Such are the findings of tests made under scientific auspices at our direction. In these tests, the majority of women benefited... many strikingly!

The combination of medicines these women found so effective was developed especially for the ailments of women... and is available under the name of Lydia E. Pinkham's Tablets.

The relief they give from monthly cramps, backaches, headaches is equalled by the soothing effect they have on "hot flashes" and other distress of change-of-life. Pinkham's also helps older women with blood-strengthening iron!

So—whatever your age, chances are you'll feel better by taking Pinkham's Tablets as needed. Thousands have taken them for years.

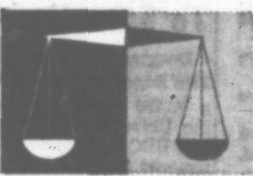

See if you don't get the same benefits they have obtained.

Hospitals in India Overcrowded Relatives Move in With Patients

By KITTY DIXON

Hospital officials here would stern if a patient arrived at the admitting office with several relatives in tow, insisting they be allowed to stay and prepare his meals.

But in Central India hospitals make room for relatives and readily agree to letting them look for patients.

It's the only way to keep people coming to hospital for treatment.

"You see, as members of the same caste as they," explained Dr. Jean Whittier, United Church medical missionary doctor, who has been practicing in Central India since 1934.

"We try not to give into the caste system," she said. "But we do honor it as part of the people's religion."

Missionary hospitals expose patients to Christianity without utilizing the people's native religion. That is why relatives are permitted to stay along with their own bedding and set up housekeeping in the hospitals.

CAREFULLY WATCHED

"Of course, we must watch them to make certain the food is hygienically prepared. And in cases of patients who must have special diets, we tell them what foods to cook," Dr. Whittier said. Asked if she encountered difficulties with this system, she smiled good naturedly. "Not really. They co-operate with us very well."

Dr. Whittier is currently travelling throughout British Columbia doing deputation work.

"That is, I'm speaking at meetings of the United Church Women's Missionary Society and at church services, telling of missionary work," she said.

Missionary doctors for the United Church return to Canada every five years for rest and speaking tours. Dr. Whittier spoke Tuesday afternoon at a spring rally of the WMS in Esquimalt United Church.

News travels via the grapevine in Central India, where there are no telephones or telegraph lines to connect the little villages.

"It's a most effective way of getting the news," Dr. Whittier said. "In fact, the grapevine recently helped reunite a young girl with her father."

GIRL RETURNS

Sundar had been born in a tiny village near Banswara, 18 years ago. But her mother had died in childbirth, and as there was no way for the father to care for her, he gave her to the hospital, never expecting to see her again.

From the hospital, the little girl was sent to children's homes and schools in various parts of India. But she knew she had been born in Banswara, so she returned to the hospital there to begin training as a nurse.

"She told us her story and how she wished to find her father," Dr. Whittier said. Some hospital officials remembered when she first came to the hospital as a tiny baby.

"And so word was sent out by the grapevine that the baby given to the hospital 18 years ago is back."

"The father got the news, and now, Sundar is reunited with him," said Dr. Whittier.

"But there is more to the story. Dr. Whittier concluded that the father, who was an animist, asked the hospital to send evangelists to his village to teach the people about Christianity, because his daughter was a Christian, and he and his people wanted to learn about it."

IODE HELPED

Dr. Whittier has been in charge of three hospitals in central India, but she is most proud of the hospital at Indore, which she left to return to Canada.

"We have a new pediatrics ward at Indore, which IODE chapters across Canada have helped furnish," she said, proudly.

Victoria's Navy League Chapter made a special donation to Dr. Whittier and her sister, Dr. Catherine Whittier, also a medical missionary doctor in central India. The money was given in memory of a chapter member, Mrs. A. D. Whittier, aunt of the Drs. Whittier.

"We spent it on the post-graduate nursing school at the Indore hospital," Dr. Whittier said.

Mrs. A. D. Whittier's memory is again being honored, Saturday, when her picture will be unveiled at the Aged Women's Home. Mrs. Whittier was on the board of directors of the home and her mother, Mrs. H. Carne, helped to found the home.

Dr. Whittier does not know which hospital she will be posted to when she returns to India in August. "It could be the one at Banswara, as there is most work to be done there," she said.

Already she is anticipating her return.

"There is so much to be done. I feel there is a mountain ahead of me, and I can't climb over it," she said.

Need of missionary doctors and nurses in Central India, where Dr. Jean Whittier has worked since 1934, is great. An important part of hospital procedure in India is teaching Indian people basic rules of health. Reasons for cleanliness are explained and they are given classes on hygiene during their stay. Dr. Whittier speaks the native language, Hindi.

Supper Party

Authentic pictures of the Gold Rush in 1898 to 1902, including a trek 500 miles inland from Skagway to Dawson via mule pack, dog teams and paddle steamers were shown, Friday, when the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Capital City Yacht Club held its annual turkey supper at the Elks' Club. The pictures were discovered by chance, packed in sawdust between walls of a small building in Dawson and preserved by special treatment. They were shown by Dick Diment.

Mrs. Frank Logan presided at the dinner, of which Mrs. Doug Smythe was convener.

Owen Fowler entertained with magic tricks.

Contact Lenses

There is much interest in contact lenses of late and rightly so. Contact lenses today are much improved and a great deal of research is being carried on to effect still further improvements. We introduced the first contact lenses to Canada over twenty years ago and it is our constant aim to keep abreast of the very latest developments in this field. We welcome your enquiries.

Bratvold-Snowsell Vows Spoken In Duncan; Harrison Honeymoon

and Mrs. Kenneth Bratvold of Duncan, became the bride of James Allen Snowsell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snowsell of Prince George, B.C.

The ceremony was conducted by Rev. E. Golightly. Wearing a gown of white lace over heavy satin, the bride was escorted up the aisle by her father. Bodice featured a Sabrina neckline with lily-point sleeves. The bouffant skirt had lace appliques. A sweetheart Turquoise princess-line dresses in nylon were worn by bridal attendants Miss Elsie Jernslet, maid of honor and bridesmaids Misses Betty Bratvold and Anne Snowsell. They had velvet headpieces to match and carried bouquets of white iris, carnations and narcissi.

George Reid was best man and ushers were David Green and Bryan Mee.

A three-tier cake made by the bride's mother centred the bridal table at a reception in the church hall.

Arthur Mann proposed the toast.

A blue linen sheath style dress was worn by the new Mrs. Snowsell for a wedding trip to Harrison Hot Springs. She topped the dress with a matching duster coat and hat. Her accessories were in navy blue and her corsage of pink and white carnations.

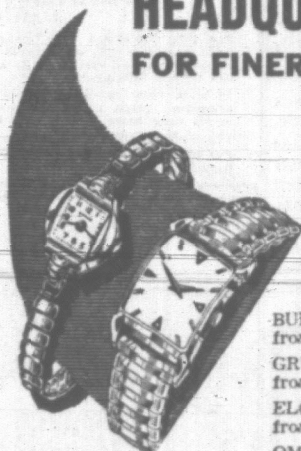

Dinner Reunites 'Phone Operators

Twentieth annual reunion dinner of ex-B.C. telephone operators was held recently in Loughheed's banquet hall. Sitting at the head table which was decorated with pink and red carnations was Mrs. E. Reston who welcomed guests and read letters of congratulations from out-of-town ex-telephone operators. Place cards at tables had centennial colors and gold nuggets attached and were made by Mrs. N. Sutherland, Mrs. L. Arnold and Mrs. C. Freeman. Burlesque entertainment featured characters of Victoria and London, Eng., in the early days. It was written and arranged by Mrs. Ed Ord.

Taking part were Mrs. W. Lenfesty, Mrs. I. McIndoe, Mrs. N. Sutherland, Mrs. L. Arnold, Mrs. A. Ledingham, Mrs. L. Fields, Mrs. B. Danes, Mrs. H. Johnson, Mrs. J. Bains, Mrs. C. Yeamans, Mrs. J. Corry, Mrs. Reston, Mrs. A. Kerr and Mrs. D. Bird, pianist.

Eleven ex-operators from the Ex-Telo Club in Vancouver were present.

Devilled Salmon Casserole

(Easy. Make ahead)
1 can (1 pound) Clover Leaf Pink Salmon, drained and flaked
1 can (10-ounces) cream of mushroom soup
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Drop of tabasco
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
Salt and pepper
Buttered bread crumbs for topping

Combine soup with seasonings and place over medium heat. Stir until soup comes to the boiling point. Pour over salmon placed in buttered casserole. Stir lightly to mix. Sprinkle with crumbs. Do not cover. Bake in moderate oven, 350 deg. F., for about 30 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Makes 4 servings. Serve with green salad and hot buns.

19¢ per serving

Potato-Salmon Croquettes

1 (1/2 pound) can Clover Leaf Pink Salmon, drained and flaked
2 cups mashed potatoes
2 medium eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon salt
Sprinkling of pepper
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
Deep fat for frying

Drain salmon and flake. Make sure there are no lumps in the potatoes and mix with salmon. Add beaten egg, seasonings and melted butter or margarine. Press into shallow pan 1-inch thick. Chill for a few minutes. Cut with biscuit cutter into rounds or shape into pyramids. Fry in deep hot fat, 375 deg. F., for 3 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper. Makes 12 small croquettes. Makes 6 servings. Delicious served with creamed peas or carrots.

9¢ per serving

Pot Luck Supper Casserole

(Tote a dish to your church pot luck supper).
1 can (1 pound) Clover Leaf Pink Salmon, drained and flaked
1 cup medium white sauce
1/2 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons pickle relish OR sweet chopped pickles
Salt and pepper to taste
1 1/2 cups buttered bread crumbs OR crushed potato chips

Mix white sauce, mayonnaise, pickle relish or chopped pickles together. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Spoon into 1 1/2 quart buttered casserole. Sprinkle top with buttered bread crumbs or crushed potato chips. Do not cover. Bake in moderate oven, 375 deg. F., for 25 minutes, or until bubbling hot. Makes 6 generous servings.

17¢ per serving

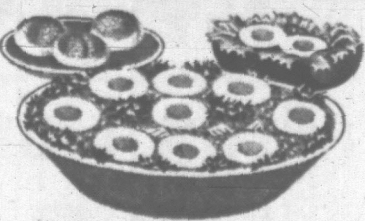

Family Salmon Loaf

1 can (1 pound) Clover Leaf Pink Salmon
1 cup milk
1 cup bread cubes (crusts-off)
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons chopped parsley, optional
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 teaspoons lemon juice OR vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper

Put salmon and liquid from can into mixing bowl. Add remaining ingredients and blend well. Spoon into buttered loaf pan or casserole. Do not cover. Bake in moderate oven, 375 deg. F., for 35 to 45 minutes, or until loaf is "set" in centre. (Knife inserted comes out clean). Remove from oven. Cool 5 minutes. Turn out on heated platter. Garnish with slices of lemon or cream of mushroom or celery soup heated and flavored to taste with curry powder. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

WHY HIDE SILVER SERVICE?

Until recently I kept my lovely silver service on a chest of drawers in my very formal dining room. A friend told me that it is very bad taste to display one's silver. Now I have built a smaller home and have an early American dining room. Should I keep my silver hidden or is it all right to have it out in the open where I can enjoy it?

Louise Davis

LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS:
I think your friend must be allergic to silver polish. I often wonder where and how people get such strange ideas. By all means have your silver service out in the open where you can enjoy looking at it and where everybody else can enjoy it too. Why hide a thing of beauty? It can't possibly be considered a sign of wealth or affluence. When the set isn't in use, it can be ornamental, just like other beautiful things you have around the house. There is no earthly reason why you should put it away and I see no logic in your friend's statement. Those lucky enough to own silver services will have them in plain view, even in contemporary houses where the interior decor is modern and even in houses without dining rooms. The only disadvantage is to keep them bright and shiny. But so what?

Ruth Wakeman Becomes Bride

Rev. H. J. Jones heard wedding vows of Ruth Louise Wakeman, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Wakeman, and Charles Denton Polner, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Polner, in St. Mary's Anglican Church, Oak Bay.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a strapless gown of white net over taffeta. The wide ballerina-length skirt had bands of lace to the hem and bodice was topped with a white lace jacket. A chapel-length veil misted from her pearl and sequin-trimmed cap of folded net and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Norris Mills was matron of honor in a gown of pink lace over taffeta. Bridesmaids Miss Judy Jacob and Miss Linda Wakeman wore yellow nylon dresses with net underskirts. They topped their gowns with tiny net capes in aqua shade, embroidered in gold. All attendants had bandeaux of flowers and carried colonial bouquets of white hyacinths and pink rosebuds.

Candace Wakeman and Teresa Mills were flower girls wearing frocks of pink nylon. They carried tiny nosegays of rosebuds. Best man was Bruce Staton and ushers were Norris Mills and Delbert Williams.

Colwood Hall was scene of a reception. A hand-made lace cloth, gift of the groom's grandmother covered the bride's table which was centred with a three-tier wedding cake. It was surrounded with pink tulle topped with flowers.

E. Veitch proposed a toast. A Dior blue chemise suit was worn by the bride for her wedding trip up-Island. She had navy accessories and corsage of pink roses.

MacLoud-Rowan Wedding Vows

A marriage was solemnized between Bernice Agnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton MacLoud and John Walter Rowan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rowan.

Centennial United Church was the setting for the wedding conducted by Rev. Douglas B. Carr.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of heavy white satin topped with a layer of Chantilly lace. Bodice featured a scooped scalloped neckline and sleeves were lily-point. A sequin headress held in place her chapel-length veil and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and lily of the valley.

Bridal attendants, Mrs. Robert Robinson, matron of honor, Mrs. Stewart Jameson, bridesmatron, and Miss Roberta MacLoud, bridesmaid, wore chiffon and taffeta dresses in soft leaf green tone. They had matching bandeaux and carried bouquets of yellow Shasta daisies and ivy.

James Merrit was best man, and ushers were Stewart Jameson and Kenneth Holt.

Donald MacLoud proposed a toast to the bride's happiness at the reception.

A red chemise-style dress was worn by the new Mrs. Rowan for her wedding trip to the mainland and United States. She wore a matching red hat and topped the ensemble with a white coat.

TODAY'S RECIPE

PECAN CRUNCHIES

1 cup butter or margarine, 1 1/2 cups sugar, divided, 2 cups sifted enriched flour, 4 teaspoons cinnamon, divided, 1 egg, separated, 1 cup coarsely chopped pecans.

Combine butter, 1 cup sugar, flour, 2 teaspoons cinnamon and egg yolk. Work together until thoroughly blended. Press lightly into greased shallow pan in an even layer 1/4 inch thick (a jelly roll pan is excellent). Beat egg white until foamy and brush over surface. Combine remaining sugar and cinnamon. Sprinkle evenly over egg white. Top with pecans. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degs., 20 to 25 minutes. Cut in squares or bars while hot, then let cool in pan.

Power Agency Undermined By BCE Says Strachan

Fate of the B.C. Power Commission and the problem of rural electrification will be a major issue at the next provincial election, CCF Leader Robert Strachan said Tuesday night. He told North-Victoria Kiwanis the government has never given the commission the same support as private power producers. "The government power agency has "... never been allowed to do a job," and is at "... the end of its rope."

"We must end this situation where the power commission is crowded into a spot and then undermined by the B.C. Electric," Strachan said. "The history of power development shows private companies never go into an area unless there is a guaranteed profit," he stated. Mr. Strachan said the result has been that many rural areas are still in need of electrical service. "The farmer's wife is just as entitled to modern living as the city dweller." He advocated a program in B.C. similar to the Rural Electrification Administration of the U.S. Loans are made available for the government for rural lines. Despite the fact there is provision for such loans in the B.C. Power Commission Act, "not one penny has been made available," he said.

Canada Too Cautious For Satellite Plan?

LONDON (CP)—The Daily Telegraph says some young scientists working in official research establishments in Canada may resign because of "cautious" government reaction to their claims that they could make an attempt to launch an earth satellite this year. Prime Minister Diefenbaker and officials of the defence research board have denied that Canada plans such an attempt. The London newspaper quotes Dr. Gerry Bull, 30-year-old superintendent of the aerophysics wing of the defence research board at Valcartier, Que., as saying: "We can place a satellite in orbit around the world this year if the federal cabinet gives us the go-ahead signal."

Bombard Russ With Notes Pearson Again Tells West

MONTREAL (CP) - Lester B. (Mike) Pearson Tuesday again urged the West to move to the diplomatic offensive in the cold war against Russia. The West should "bombard the Kremlin with our notes; making our complaints and putting forward proposals of our own," said the 1957 Nobel Peace Prize winner. NATO and Big Three governments, he said, should consider whether the time has arrived to refuse to participate in the "ridiculous—but insidious kind of diplomatic manoeuvring in public which has been developed in recent years, through the initiative of the USSR." "This may be courtesy be called diplomacy but on the Russian side it is merely the exploitation for propaganda purposes of the diplomatic method, by application of new techniques to the influencing of public opinion in other countries."

The Liberal party leader was addressing a luncheon meeting at the second day of an international gathering of chemists, sponsored jointly by the American Institute of Chemical Engineers and the Chemical Institute of Canada. Of the proposed summit conference, he declared it would do little good and might be harmful "if held in the circumstances and atmosphere desired by Moscow." It would be better to discuss through normal and lower diplomatic channels, subjects which might lead "if not to agreement, at least to clarification."

Robust Performance In Choral Recital

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSTON

Music that is both rich in spiritual values and exciting in its full-bodied urgency of expression, is Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise," performed Tuesday night by an impressive group of local musicians.

Under the baton of Graham Steed and assisted by soloists and instrumentalists, the concert was heard by a fair size audience at Metropolitan Church.

'CLEAN UP'

Good Business To Brighten Store Fronts

The Junior Chamber of Commerce "Clean-Up, Paint-Up" campaign is under way until April 30. As a service and guide to Times readers, prominent civic and business leaders will bring a daily message explaining what can be done to make Victoria a cleaner, brighter and safer community.

Supporting the Paint-Up, Clean-Up campaign is "a matter of good business," B. B. Tingley, vice-chairman of the retail merchants group, Chamber of Commerce, said today.

"Under the leadership of the Jaycees we can certainly have a cleaner, more attractive downtown area," he said. "This is an obvious advantage in the greeting of this centennial year's influx of visitors."

Mr. Tingley said painting store fronts, brightening windows and clearing daily litter from sidewalks will "make a tremendous difference" in the appearance of the city.

"It is rather foolish to put up special decorations overhead and allow eyesores to exist below," he said.

Navy Services To Mark Battle Of Atlantic

More than 5,000 officers and men of the RCN Pacific Command will observe Battle of the Atlantic Sunday, May 4 in ships at sea and special services ashore.

Battle of Atlantic Sunday is observed annually across Canada to commemorate the service of the RCN and Canada's merchant navy in the Second World War, and to pay tribute to those who gave their lives at sea.

Protestant services will be held on the upper playing field of HMCS Naden at 9.30 a.m. Chaplain I. R. Edwards will deliver the sermon, and Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner, FOFC, will read the lesson. If weather is poor, the service will be held in the dining hall of the Nelles Block.

Roman Catholics will attend a special service in the drill hall of Naden, also at 9.30 a.m. Chaplain J. P. Farrell will say mass and Chaplain J. A. MacLean will give the sermon.

Both services are open to the general public.

Lana's Girl At Hearing Thursday

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UP)—Nearly a score of witnesses will be called Thursday in the juvenile court hearing for actress Lana Turner's 14-year-old daughter, Cheryl, who fatally stabbed Johnny Stompanato April 4.

Superior Judge Allen T. Lynch, who will preside at the hearing, said it will be kept strictly private. He said his only concern was Cheryl's welfare.

The hearing will determine what will be done with the tall, good-looking girl.

A coroner's inquest found the slaying to be "justifiable homicide" but the ruling is not binding on the juvenile court which can leave the girl in Lana's custody, turn her over to her father, Stephen Crane, or keep her in an institution.

Attorney William Jerome Polack, who filed a $750,000 damage suit against Miss Turner, Crane and Cheryl Tuesday on behalf of Stompanato's 10-year-old son, said he would attempt to serve notification of the suit at the hearing.

Aside from a special arrangement by Sir Edward Elgar, of the "Queen," the program consisted of only two numbers; the Mendelssohn "Hymn" and Vaughan Williams' "Festival Te Deum."

ROBUST, VIVID

The latter, a colorful, brilliantly scored composition for chorus and orchestra, based on traditional themes and written for the coronation of the late King George VI, was given a robust, vivid performance that did ample justice to its total pageantry.

Steed's chorus, renowned for attack, vital singing of long climactic phrases and sense of progression, was thoroughly at home in "Hymn of Praise."

Three solo voices featured were sopranos Peggy Packard and Margaret Dunn and tenor Tom Golek. Aside from his natural gift and evident musicianship, Mr. Golek, who came from Seattle for the performance, has excellent voice placement and production technique.

FULL TONE

His tone is full, richly resonant and admirably controlled. He handles the most difficult phrases with ease, singing always on the breath with firm support. Moreover he sings with temperance and significance.

Soprano solos were handled satisfactorily and with fine musical effect by Mrs. Packard and Mrs. Dunn.

Richard Proudman was at the organ console. A selection of Victoria Symphony string players was led by John Pepper and stirring Tjohani effects were by F. Morris.

Goat Breeders To Seek Grant

SAANICHTON—A resolution to press the federal government for more active support of the B.C. Goat Breeders' Association was passed Saturday at the 41st annual meeting of the association's directors Saturday at the Dominion Experimental Station.

It was recalled that prior to the depression a yearly grant was made to the association, but this was withdrawn in the early 1930s and never revived.

A committee will be set up by the association to approach the federal agriculture department seeking renewal of the grant.

It was announced that special centennial displays will be featured at provincial exhibitions during the year, and that literature on raising goats is available.

Arnold Campbell of Port Colquhann, provincial secretary, announced individual members in Ceylon, Spain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Great Britain, the United States, and elsewhere in Canada receive copies of the B.C. publication of "The Bleat."

Directors elected were Mrs. E. W. Schart and Mrs. E. Smith, Vancouver Island; J. West, Powell River; and L. Wells, G. Buchanan, Mrs. B. Stathan, and Stanley Newcombe, for the Fraser Valley.

Conflicting Reports On Suez Settlement

CAIRO (AP)—Abdel Ghuell Eltemary, Egyptian representative in the Suez Canal negotiations, said today final agreement has been reached with the canal company shareholders on payment of compensation, and the agreement will be signed as soon as the final draft is completed. Details of the agreement were not disclosed.

In Paris, a spokesman for the Suez Canal Company denied that agreement has been reached. The spokesman said: "This is premature. There has been no accord. The conversations are continuing."

JEWISH LEADER

Rites Thursday For 99-Year-Old Ex-Tobacconist

Operator of the famed "Salmon sweep" around the turn of the century and a well-known tobacconist, Henry Louis Salmon, died here Tuesday at the age of 99.

Retired since 1914, he had lived at the corner of Joan Crescent and Rockland, opposite the Government House site.

From his shop at Government and Yates, he ran the sweepstakes for several years. At first a modest lottery, it soon mushroomed into a province-wide sweepstakes with a record first prize of $38,000.

LONDON-BORN

Mr. Salmon was born in London, England, and came to Victoria in 1884.

He owned shares in the Victoria Evening Post, which later folded, and worked for a time as advertising manager.

Soon after his arrival, he joined the volunteer fire department and drew a salary of $10 a month as a part-time hoseman.

In past years he had served as president of the Jewish Emanuel Temple, master of Victoria Columbia Lodge No. 1, AF & AM, and past district deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of British Columbia. He was a life member of the Pacific Club, former secretary of the Victoria branch of the Navy League, and former secretary of the Foresters' Lodge.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Daisy Minchin, Los Angeles, and Pauline, San Francisco; and one son, Val, in San Francisco. A cousin, Mrs. Hannah Knowles lives in Victoria, and one niece, Mrs. Adolph Lancaster, Victoria.

Masonic funeral will be held at Hayward's funeral home Thursday at 1.30 p.m. Cremation will follow.

Nuclear Ocean Tests Referred to Assembly

GENEVA (Reuters)—The 86-country conference on the law of the sea today rejected a Communist bloc proposal to ban all nuclear tests on the high seas, and referred the question to the United Nations General Assembly.

No vote was taken on the resolution submitted by Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia.

Instead, the delegates voted 58 to 0 in favor of an Indian proposal to turn the problem over to the UN.

The Indian resolution said there is a "serious and genuine apprehension" over nuclear explosions on the high seas but since the question of nuclear tests and production is under review by the UN, "appropriate action" should come from that source.

The delegates also adopted a resolution calling for a "genuine link" between ships and the countries whose flags they fly.

The resolution, aimed at ships flying "flags of convenience," said any state which grants its nationality to vessels must "effectively exercise its jurisdiction and control in administrative, technical and social matters."

Several countries had complained before the beginning of the conference about the increasing number of ships flying flags of convenience to avoid high taxes and obtain cheaper labor.

The conference also adopted a resolution calling on all countries to take measures to prevent pollution of the sea from the dumping of radioactive waste.

TALKS ABOUT SECOND TRIP

Princess Excited About Canada Visit

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (CP)—Princess Margaret formally inaugurated the first parliament of the new West Indies Federation Tuesday. Later she told newspaper men she is avidly looking forward to her first visit to Canada this July.

The petite princess, looking radiantly beautiful in a glimmering full-length white dress, drove from Government House to the legislature in an open car while boys climbed 50 feet up towering trees to get a better view of the royal visitor to their tropical isle.

Trade Minister Churchill, External Affairs Minister Smith and State Secretary Fairclough represented Canada at the ceremony. They sat a few feet from the speaker's dais behind wickered red-robed justices of the Supreme Court and members of the new Parliament.

At a press reception, the princess indicated she is already thinking of a second visit to Canada, saying: "I asked them not to attempt to show me the whole country on this July trip."

A reporter asked her which part of Canada she would like to see most and she replied: "I want very much to see the Rockies."

Frederick J. Messer, 635 Admirals, was sentenced in Esquimalt police court Monday to 30 days in jail for assault causing bodily harm to Eric Lawrence Adames, 1989 Crescent, on March 6.

Adames went to Messer's house as property manager of a city realty firm which managed the premises. With him was Mrs. A. M. McDonald, owner of the house.

Court was told when Adames tried to get a response to knocks on both front and back doors, Messer came out and hit him over the head with a piece of cordwood.

France Looks To Rene Plevin For Government

PARIS (Reuters)—France's 25th postwar government crisis today went into its second week as former Premier Rene Plevin took over the task of forming a new government and leading the country out of its bewildering political difficulties.

A special plane was dispatched to the Breton town of Dinan to bring Plevin back to Paris for the job vacated Tuesday by another former premier, Georges Bidault.

Bidault gave up the task when he failed to gain the crucial support of the Socialists and of members of his own Mouvement Republicain Populaire (Catholic) party.

GIVEN GOOD CHANCE

Plevin, 57-year-old Breton businessman and leader of the small near-radical Socialist and Democratic Resistance Union, is given a good chance of success. He hopes to bring conservatives, radicals, and MRP members together in a coalition cabinet acceptable to the National Assembly.

The government of Premier Felix Gaillard toppled last Wednesday after backing Anglo-American proposals for direct negotiations with Tunisia.

Plevin has twice served as premier, first from July, 1950, to February, 1951, and again from August, 1951, to January, 1952. He also served as defence minister, under several governments, between March, 1952, and June, 1954.

Bidault's failure to form a cabinet was attributed to inter-party parliamentary calculations rather than to his policy

Father, Son to Hang In Bank Gun-Slaying

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—A father and his 17-year-old son Tuesday night were convicted of murder in the gun-slaying of a Blind River bank manager and sentenced to be hanged Tuesday, July 15.

The jury deliberated for three hours before finding Fred Montgomery, 43, and his son Rodney, guilty of murder in the Oct. 9 slaying of J. J. Walter Bridges, shot down during an attempted holdup at the Royal Bank of Canada branch he managed.

The jury recommended mercy for the boy.

The Montgomerys were arrested on a farm near Delisle, Sask., several months after the slaying. Special Crown prosecutor Gordon Ford of Toronto called some 70 witnesses in their trial.

PLEA FOR MERCY

Mr. Justice Wishart Spence told the jury he noted their recommendation for mercy but said the death sentence was mandatory. He promised a complete report to the justice minister.

Asked if they had anything to say before sentence was pronounced, the elder Montgomery said: "I have nothing to say."

Rodney replied: "No sir." The father, jittery during the week-long trial, seemed calm at the verdict. Both sat up straight to hear the verdict.

The father patted his son on the back as they were led from the dock.

Rotary Club To Hear Speaker From Lebanon

Guest speaker at the Rotary luncheon meeting Thursday at the Empress Hotel will be the international club's first vice-president, Augustine J. Catoni, Beirut Rotary, Lebanon.

Mr. Catoni is a former president of the International Chamber of Shipping and served in the Royal Navy during the Second World War as a lieutenant commander.

Born in Turkey he has served as honorary consul to Sweden for Lebanon and is now managing director of the Maritime Agency in Beirut.

THESE THIEVES BROKE INTO THE PRISON

LIVERPOOL, Eng. (Reuters)—Two burglars broke into Walton Prison and cracked a safe, government officials admitted today.

The safe contained no cash, only documents.

Detectives said the intruders probably climbed a 10-foot wall into the garden of one of the homes of officials, crossed the garden and scaled a 20-foot wall into the prison.

Then, while more than 1,000 prisoners slept, they used a saw and a jimmy to rip off part of the back of the safe. Nothing was taken.

'Speak Up' to U.S. on Trade Snags, Gordon Tells Canada

VANCOUVER (CP)—A full-dress Canada-United States conference on economic differences was suggested Tuesday night by Walter L. Gordon, prominent Toronto industrialist and chairman of the recent royal commission on Canada's economic prospects.

Mr. Gordon told the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy convention both Canada and the U.S. would be better off if they tried to work out their economic differences together, rather than go their own ways.

NAIVE BARGAINING

Then he said: "Canada will be naive and foolish if we first agree to everything our American friends want about defence, about natural gas and about downstream benefits, for example, and then try to bargain with them about such things as restrictions on Canadian oil and increased tariffs on lead and zinc."

"But a full-dress conference or discussion of all these various subjects—with very careful preparation in advance—might surely be helpful in reaching some kind of reasonable settlement of our differences."

CONSTRUCTIVE WAY

"It seems to me that this would be a constructive way of furthering the interests of Canadians in general."

Throughout most of his address Mr. Gordon dealt with the finding of his commission.

OIL MARKET

Mr. Gordon laid particular stress on that section of the report which said any lengthy U.S. embargo against Canadian oil should lead the Canadian government to take action to get a larger share for Western Canadian crude in the Montreal area, where big American-controlled refineries are now importing crude from the Middle East.

Mr. Gordon said he considered one of the most important findings of his commission its suggestion of a national energy authority to advise the federal and provincial governments on long-term energy problems.

DEMAND FROM U.S.

He noted the commission had found that despite some over-expansion of capacity in the last few years, there would be a continuing growth in the mining and mineral processing industries of great dimensions. But these were predicated on a demand for metals from the United States and other countries and on Canada getting an increased share of expanding world markets.

DUMPING DANGER

If these conditions did not materialize and Russia began dumping such metals as aluminum on the European market, then assuredly the commission's forecast would be overly optimistic, he said.

He said all Canadians would like to see more of Canada's raw materials processed in this country. But "it would be foolish for us to bite off our national nose to spite our national face." There were many factors against a wholesale program of further processing in Canada.

Air Officials Looking To Expansion in Arctic

Opening of the North to commercial and private flying has captured the imagination of Canadians, a pioneer of Canadian aviation said here Tuesday night.

J. R. K. (Ken) Main, director of civil aviation for the department of transport, said his department will open a regional office for the air services branch in the eastern Arctic within "the next year or two."

"I have the feeling that the psychological effect, both nationally and internationally, will be quite profound," he said, addressing the semi-annual meeting of Air Industries and Transport Association at the Empress Hotel.

The department of transport already has made a civil terminal out of the former defence airport at Frobisher, on the eastern flank of the DEW line.

Half Way Along Polar Route

It lies half way along the polar route between Los Angeles, San Francisco and Oakland, and London, Amsterdam, Paris and Brussels.

"One of the biggest problems today is keeping people out of Frobisher," Mr. Main said. "It is an open airport, of course, and the world is at liberty to land, providing it can pay its way, but there is no living accommodation."

"If you wish to go I must warn you to take a sleeping bag and sandwiches; and if it is summer time, a mosquito net, mosquito repellent and sandwiches."

The speaker, a native of Pincher Creek, Alberta, said Canadians have reached a point where the north can and must be developed, and that in order to deal with its problems effectively an office and staff must be not only in the Arctic, but "of it."

He added the plans he outlined are still "rather nebulous," but the seventh region of the air services branch likely would be known as the eastern Arctic region.

The government will take over for operation airstrips at Cambridge Bay and Hall Lake, or Fox, which were established for the DEW line. At the latter there is a growing need for traffic control, which will be provided soon.

Navigation Aid for Northland

The speaker said a standing committee has for a time considered the provision of a type of aid to navigation to serve the whole of northern Canada.

It would be utilized by Canadian and foreign air services and the difficulty lies in providing one that will give service to all who would use it, he said.

Excuses for not taking possession of the north are no longer valid, Mr. Main said.

"Not for 50 years have the Canadian people faced such a challenge."

Speaking of pilot training, he said with today's complex air craft and increased traffic, procedures are so exacting "there is simply no place for the pilot with half-knowledge."

The standard of training has steadily improved, yet the gap between that standard and a

Radio Conference At UBC May 5 to 9

VANCOUVER (CP) — The first national conference on radio will be held at the University of British Columbia May 5 to 9. There will be a series of lectures and panel discussions.

The five-day seminar will have as its theme, "Radio in the Future of Canada," and will cover all phases of broadcasting, including news, sports and drama and advertising methods and promotion.

Speakers will include noted Canadian and American authorities on radio.

DISCOVER BEAUTIFUL B.C. THIS CENTENNIAL YEAR

Vacation in Vancouver and tour the Fraser Valley, too!

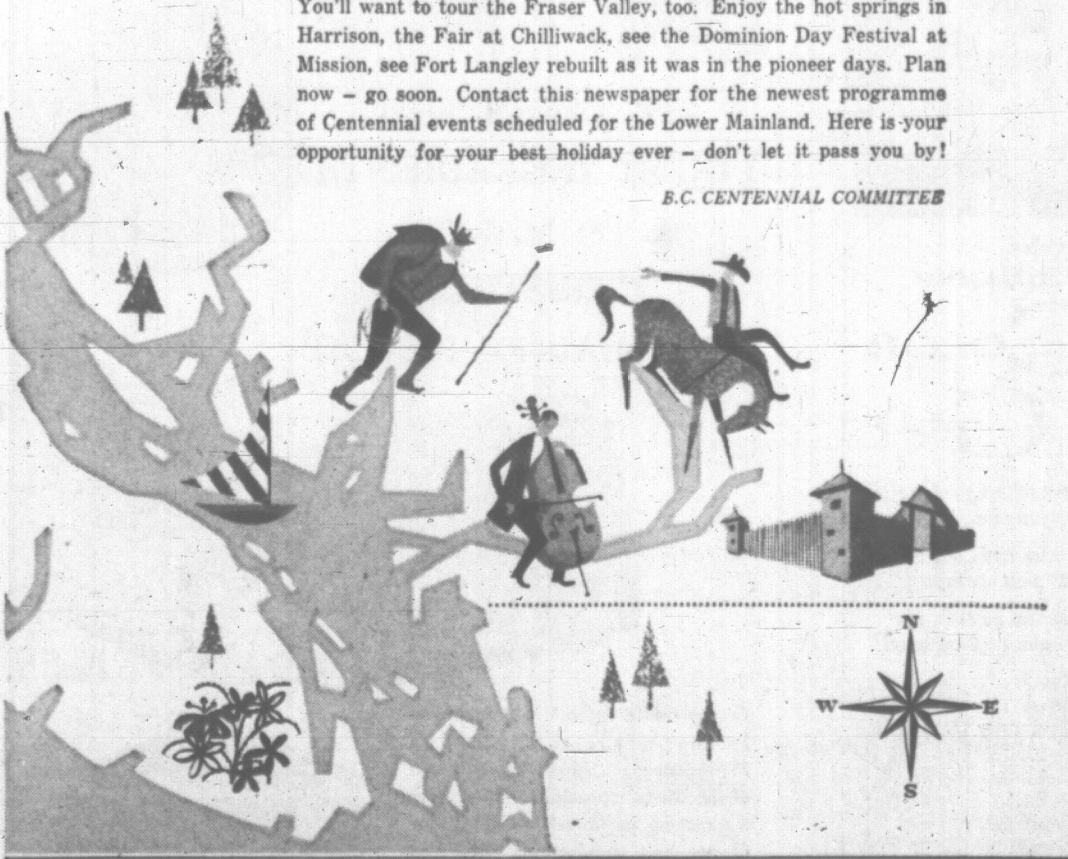

Isn't it strange — people travel the world over, often overlooking the beauty that lies outside their doors. How fortunate for us in B.C. that so much of nature's wonderland is so close to us. Take Vancouver, for instance. Here is one of the world's most beautiful harbours. Visitors call it North America's Rio de Janeiro and no nicer compliment can be paid. How recently have you visited your province's Gateway to the Orient, Canada's third largest city?

There's no other city like it in all Canada — with beautiful beaches, parks and playgrounds, with fishing and sailing just off-shore, its "Theatre Under the Stars", its colorful Chinatown, intriguing shops, chair lifts to mountain tops and a thousand other attractions. Golf, tennis, riding, hiking, bowling, sailing — all sports are here for you and your family, and every type of accommodation too, from deluxe hotels to modest motels.

Yes, vacation in Vancouver this Centennial year — and for added fun, see the shows and plays and movies, see the special Centennial events and attractions that are making Vancouver the mecca for tourists from thousands of miles away.

You'll want to tour the Fraser Valley, too. Enjoy the hot springs in Harrison, the Fair at Chilliwack, see the Dominion Day Festival at Mission, see Fort Langley rebuilt as it was in the pioneer days. Plan now — go soon. Contact this newspaper for the newest programme of Centennial events scheduled for the Lower Mainland. Here is your opportunity for your best holiday ever — don't let it pass you by!

TEARS OF JOY were shed by Mrs. Phyllis Heikkila at San Francisco Tuesday when she looked at a wirephoto of her husband in Helsinki, Finland. American-born, 38-year-old Mrs. Heikkila learned that her husband,

William, was being allowed to return home after being whisked out of the country by U.S. immigration officials on grounds he is a Communist. (AP Wirephoto.)

Farmers Seeking C of C Support On Credit Plan

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce Tuesday was urged to support Vancouver Island growers in their demands for an extensive federal government farm credit plan.

Charles E. Se-Walls, secretary of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, said "unless" federal loans are made easier, a major part of the province's agricultural industry will fall into the hands of national and international feed companies.

Island farmers were gradually becoming "nothing more than paid employees" of large milling companies because of their inability to raise sufficient loans to expand their holdings, he said.

He explained that farmers are being forced to borrow money from large feed and food companies, which gradually gain full control of the farms.

He said that it was in the interest of business men and merchants to keep farmers "independent."

"If these large companies, through credit and integration, gain control of agricultural production, they will dictate where the supplies for production will be bought," he said. "This will include tools, machinery, sprays and other products."

Mr. Walls will discuss the problem at a meeting of the North American section of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers in Ottawa.

"The process of 'vertical integration' as it is called is becoming rampant in B.C.," he said. "It does not only apply to the poultry industry but to vegetable production, canning crops and to cattle."

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States officials cleared the way today for William Heikkila to return home after conceding that they had acted too hastily in abruptly deporting him to his native Finland.

However, the government vowed it will continue its 11-year fight to deport the 52-year-old San Francisco draughtsman on charges that he was once a member of the Communist party.

The immigration commissioner, Joseph M. Swing, Tuesday authorized Heikkila's return at government expense on grounds of a technical error, acting a few hours after Heikkila, clad only in a light suit with no overcoat, arrived at Helsinki in the midst of a sleet storm. He contended he had been kidnapped by United States immigration agents.

He was grabbed by agents as he emerged from his San Francisco office Friday and whisked off to Finland by way of Vancouver and The Netherlands.

Informed of Swing's decision, Heikkila said he would return home at once. "I have only one desire in my heart—to return to my home and wife."

NEVER NATURALIZED

Heikkila was born in Finland while his parents, naturalized Americans of Finnish birth, were visiting their homeland. He was brought to the U.S. as an infant but he never was naturalized himself.

"For many years I have applied for American citizenship but it has not been granted," he told reporters in Helsinki. As for the Communist charge: "Sure, I was a Communist in 1929 to 1939 in Minnesota. But from the time I left there for San Francisco I have had nothing to do with politics. I have not had the time. I have just been working. I am a Democrat."

ADMITS ERROR MADE

In authorizing Heikkila's return Swing said after studying the case:

"I have come to the conclusion that an error in judgment

Estate Swindler Gets Two Years in Prison

REGINA (CP) — Michael Edward Somers, former provincial administrator of estates for the mentally incompetent, was sentenced Tuesday to two years in Prince Albert Penitentiary on each of three charges of misappropriating funds. The sentences are concurrent.

Somers, 38-year-old lawyer and father of four, had pleaded guilty to charges of misappropriating $16,881.

He was charged with having converted the assets of three estates of patients who died at North Battleford Mental Hospital without heirs. The patients were Peter Romanko, Gordon Mallory and Peter Anderson.

Earlier, Crown prosecutor J. B. Goetz said Somers created fictitious heirs and issued cheques to them, and then converted the money to his own use. He was apprehended in March when one of his subordinates became suspicious.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Connie Robertson, 10, Dakota City, Ia., for her question:

What Kind of Plant Is Moss?

Mother Nature's carpet is made of moss. She is a good housekeeper and a good housekeeper puts down the carpet before she moves in the heavy furniture. Mother Nature decided to furnish the bare land many millions of years ago. At that time all living things were in the sea. They had to learn to live on the dry land in easy stages.

First came the bacteria and the algae. They chewed up the powdered rocks and made the first soil. Now the land was ready to support more complex plants. These were the mosses. They thrived and spread wherever there was soil and moisture. The bare earth was clothed with vast stretches of velvety green carpet.

As the mosses grew they improved the soil and added oxygen to the air. They used sunshine and water to make food and used the food for their growth. In the process, they poured oxygen into the air. Their tender green foliage died, decayed and added its valuable chemicals to the ground. The living carpet of moss helped make the soil suitable for more complex plants and for the arrival of the animals.

There are over 13,000 varieties of moss and they grow almost everywhere. There are mosses on the cold, bitter peaks of Antarctica, in the deserts and in the tropics. One variety grows under the deep waters of a Swiss lake. But most mosses grow in damp, shady places. They cling to stones besides the streams, to old logs and shady tree trunks. They grow on the forest floor under old leaves and sometimes hide their vivid green under the snow.

Study the beautiful foliage of the various mosses under a magnifying glass. The pincushion moss is a velvety hump. The fern moss is a rug of miniature fern-like foliage. The juniper hair-cap moss is a mass of leafy spikes.

Mosses are simple, flowerless plants. The yellow-headed pins you see on the pincushion moss are really spore cases. They are just about ready to scatter their dusty spores into the wind. Each little spore has two parents and the process of making the spores is very complex.

Rain Carries New Cells

The cells for making new plants are of two sorts. Sometimes one plant produces both cells. More often the parents are two different plants. The papa produces antheridia cells, the mama produces archegonia cells. These cells grow at the top of the leafy foliage. The antheridia cells wait for the dew or the rain. Then they swim off to join the archegonia cells. The next stage develops in the mama's crown of foliage.

A slender stem grows and at its top is a drooping head. The head is a spore case shaped like a pepper shaker. The holes are spaces between a circle of teeth. The shaker is sealed with a neat pointed cap. When the spores are ready the cap pops off. The spore case shakes out the little spores in a dusty cloud. Off they float on a breeze to find a damp, shady patch of ground. There they grow fragile green threads which act as roots. From these threads sprout the springy green moss to make another patch of Mother Nature's carpet.

WHAT EXACTLY ARE FOSSILS?

The word fossil means something that has been dug up from the ground. In science it has a special meaning. It means something that has been preserved or buried for a long, long time and that particular something must once have been alive. It may be the remains of ancient animal life, plant life or animal and plant life mixed together. Fossil remains may also be the imprints of ancient living things left to harden in the mud.

Box-Top Gimmicks Give Children 'False Values'

REGINA (CP)—An official of a huge wholesale co-operative says there are no words in the English language to describe persons who attempt to "proselytize" children into buying certain breakfast cereals through the use of "gimmicks."

H. L. Fowler, secretary of Federated Co-Operatives Ltd., recited before the royal commission on price spreads Tuesday the case of an ailing 10-year-old boy—son of deeply religious parents—who started saving cereal box tops in the hope of winning a bicycle. He said the child got the box-top urge through a radio advertisement and was deeply hurt when he didn't win. His parents questioned whether this "form of gambling" was not giving the boy "a false sense of values," even to the point of "contributing to juvenile delinquency."

The cereal manufacturer had used the boxtop as a gimmick to boost sales. In the eyes of Mr. Fowler, there were no words to describe such persons who try to sway children in this way simply to gain their own ends.

LITTLE WHEAT IN BOX

He spoke of other cases. He had picked up a package of puffed wheat selling for 24 cents and found the total wheat contents in the product was valued at less than 1 cent.

He had compared two packages of breakfast food made by the same firm. One sold at 42 cents without a cup; the other at 65 cents with a cup. The consumer was paying 23 cents for the cup. He took it to a china shop and found it retailed at 19 cents. The wholesale value was less than 11 cents.

"That company should say it is selling crockery and throwing in food as a premium. I don't know if it is making any profit on the food; it certainly is making profit on the crockery," Mr. Fowler introduced the cup as evidence before the commission.

He used the cases to illustrate his argument that excessive profits, duplication of facilities, fancy packaging, the handling of a multiplicity of similar brands by the same store, trading stamps, heavy advertising and various gimmicks can add to the spread between the producer's selling price and the cost to the consumer.

CO-OPERATION THEME

The way to narrow spreads, he suggested, was through greater use of co-operatives, on the producer, manufacturing and consumer levels. Co-operatives did not need any traveling salesmen. They did not have to indulge in heavy advertising to draw customers into their stores. Customers came in because it was "their own store."

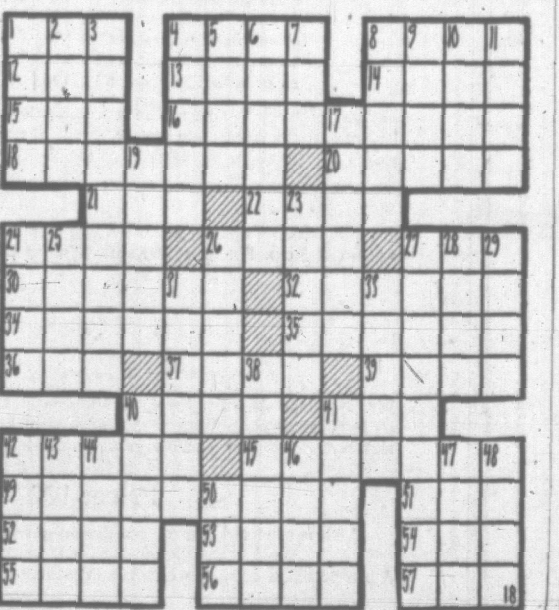

Commission member Bernard Couvrette of Montreal, a prominent wholesaler, took issue on some points. Wasn't it an argument to consider, he suggested, that the current pattern of retail selling developed simply because consumers want it that way.

Perhaps, replied Mr. Fowler, he was wrong to suggest that price spreads were too large. Perhaps he had no right to be the guardian of the consumer's economic destiny. But those who believe in the co-operative movement feel they are right.

Perhaps they were "lone voices in the wilderness" urging consumers into another path.

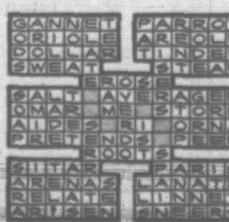

Mr. Couvrette observed co-operatives felt supermarkets had over-extended their facilities thus adding to the cost of doing business. Did this mean co-operatives wanted reimposition of wartime controls to prevent this over-extension?

"We are against controls," Mr. Fowler replied. "They are not desirable and people are not prepared to accept them. We believe people should organize and do their own controlling."

Tour's Top Hits For Ballet Here

Numbers which have proved to be biggest box office hits of a 10-month tour of the United States and Canada, will be seen here when the National Ballet of Canada appears at the Royal Theatre, Friday and Saturday.

They are, of course, the much-heralded full-length "Swan Lake", which will be danced Friday night, and "Offenbach in the Underworld", which will be included on both the Saturday matinee and evening programs.

Among statistics concerning the latter, artistic adviser Kay Ambrose, who visited Victoria a week ago, mentions that there are two and a half miles of frills in the costumes.

An astounding figure, but one that can be taken as exact, seeing that Miss Ambrose designs the costumes and even takes a hand in making them occasionally.

Concerning Victoria-born ballerina Jacqueline Inghs' role in the ballet, Miss Ambrose had this to say:

"Offenbach is Jackie's show—she's simply stolen it from everybody. She's been the most fantastic hit in it."

It seems that in the first place, world-famed choreographer of "Offenbach", Anthony Tudor, came to Canada to cast and train the company in its performance. At auditions he selected Jackie for a lead.

"He was not too sure how far she could go in the interpretation at this time, but she has amazed and delighted him with her performance since, as well as all the critics and audiences across the continent."

Winston's Art Critics Flayed By British Press

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain today rushed to the defence of one of its most celebrated painters, Sir Winston Churchill, after the Art Institute of Chicago rejected a showing of his pictures.

"The Chicago Art Institute is being rather hoity-toity," says the Manchester Guardian.

Sir Charles Wheeler, Royal Academy president, who said he hopes to give the former prime minister his first one-man show in Britain later this year, called Churchill "an inspired amateur."

"Why should Chicago expect him to be a professional artist when he is a professional politician?"

Wheeler also said there is a tendency in the United States to "foster modern artists at the expense of the traditional."

The Guardian says: "There seems to be some confusion here between a man's being a 'professional' who earns his living by his art, and his achieving a 'professional' standard of work."

"Sir Winston is obviously not a professional in the first sense, but some good judges have pronounced his work to be professional in quality, just as still more officially—his standard of bricklaying has been found to be professional."

"The consensus of opinion seems to be that although his paintings will not set the Seine or the Arno on fire they are clearly the work of a man who has learnt the trade. They are not the work of a dauber."

QORs MARK BIRTHDAY AT CALGARY

CALGARY (CP)—Canada's oldest army regiment, the Queen's Own Rifles, is getting set for its 98th birthday Friday.

In Calgary the 1st Battalion of the QOR's under Lt.-Col. Charles Lithgow will mark the celebrations with an inter-company sports day and dances.

Origin of the regiment dates back to 1860 when six of Canada's militia rifle companies were banded together as the 2nd Battalion Volunteer Militia Rifles of Canada.

Three years later Queen Victoria approved the designation Queen's Own Rifles of Toronto and in 1882 the name was changed to Queen's Own Rifles of Canada.

'Goodwill' Scroll Read To Kiwanians

A scroll containing the aims of Kiwanis Canada-U.S. Goodwill Week which started Monday was read to Kiwanis members Tuesday noon at the Empress Hotel.

The scroll is being read to more than 52 Kiwanis clubs in Canada and the U.S. by immediate past governor of the Pacific Northwest district, Mel Dennis, Payallup, Washington.

LESSON IN PEACE

The purpose of the Kiwanis international during this week and "throughout the year is to demonstrate a lesson in peace, international understanding and accord to all nations."

Mr. Dennis said there was bound to be friction between the two countries but this was merely "disagreement between friends."

He reaffirmed the closing lines of his message which stated that: "to preserve international goodwill we must constantly and constructively strive for its development."

STRATFORD - ON - AVON, England (CP) — Flags of 91 countries flew in the streets of this English town today to commemorate the birthday of a native son who put it on the map.

Scholars and diplomats trooped amid pageantry and pomp to place wreaths on the grave of William Shakespeare, immortal bard of Avon.

And, as usual, there were requests and appeals that Shakespeare's tomb in Trinity Church be opened to establish the true authorship of works signed "Shakespeare."

Meanwhile, Peter Hall's new production of Twelfth Night, which opened at the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre Tuesday night, brings off a challenge to tradition in extracting the sharpest comedy from the romantic character of the Countess Olivia.

Instead of a dark and languid beauty, Hall presents a blonde, pert and affected child playing at being a woman, in the person of Geraldine McEwan. She nearly steals the show, using her curious sandpaper voice and little squeaks with superb timing.

This reading of Olivia's role makes more plausible than usual her impulsiveness and at the same time balances the child-like quality of Dorothy Tutin, who plays Viola with warmth and tenderness.

Bringing Up Baby
HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 3
There's no question that some babies have more difficulty with teething than others. Sometimes nothing seems to help, but quite often you can soothe and/or distract baby with these simple tricks.
• Offer baby the food he likes best, but try to keep a balanced diet.
• Frequent sips of cool fruit juice or water help in the soothing dept.
• A Gerber Teething Biscuit (extra hard and smooth) gives soothing relief and biting satisfaction.
• A smiling attitude, rather than a "you poor darling" one, helps keep baby more cheerful.
• Refreshment unlimited... vitamin-C content guaranteed! Now, in addition to Gerber Strained Orange Juice, baby can enjoy Gerber Strained Orange Pineapple and Pineapple Grapefruit. Both are delicious in flavor—just mildly sweet, never tart. Both are fortified with vitamin C so you can alternate them with Gerber Orange Juice. All three, of course are pasteurized for baby's protection.
Cup cue from a regular mother-reader: "Small paper cups are wonderful for baby's first cup tries with milk. The small, beveled edge rests lightly on baby's lip, reducing drippage. Cups are small and light enough for little hands to hold!"
"Detective" story. Gerber really keeps an "eye" on your baby's food. An electric eye, that is. Before Gerber Cereals leave the processing line, each package age must stand inspection by the electric eye. This magical device is able to "see" into the box to make sure the cereal is absolutely pure. This is but one Gerber way of guarding the quality and purity of your baby's food. For when it comes to babies, mothers and Gerber agree, it's quality first. Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

QUALICUM'S BIG SWIM GETS A SILVER TROPHY

QUALICUM BEACH—A silver challenge cup will be first prize for the Qualicum Beach centennial two-mile swim July 12.

The cup was offered by J. Craig Reid, chairman of the village commission, and was accepted by delegates of local groups to the centennial committee. It is hoped to make the swim an annual event.

AT KELSEY BAY

$29,885 Contract Let For Floating Wharf

KELSEY BAY—The federal department of public works has awarded a $29,885 contract to the Vancouver Pile Driving & Contracting Co., Ltd., North Vancouver, for reconstruction of a floating mooring and gangway here.

Specified completion date for this project is Dec. 18. Prior to actual construction of a new wharf much has to be done in the way of removing and disposing of the existing structure, dredging to 7 feet below local low water an area 50 feet by 290 feet and pulling 13 breakwater piles and two gangway approach piles. Reconstruction will involve driving 100 crosscoated breakwater piles and 40 new float mooring piles, and placing new cedar log floats with untreated timber superstructure. The new floats will measure 12 feet by 150 feet, and 12 feet by 30 feet. Constructing and securing a new 4 feet by 36 feet gangway is also included in the contract for improvements to the harbor. Plans and specifications were prepared by the harbors and rivers branch of the Department of Public Works, Ottawa.

Award-Winning Play Featured at Bazaar

LANGFORD — Presentation of the junior award winning play in the Greater Victoria School Drama Festival, "The Princess and the Woodcutter," highlighted the program by students of Belmont Junior-Senior High School at the annual bazaar Friday night.

The play and subsequent entertainment and sale of goods were presented in the school auditorium under sponsorship of the school parents' association.

Sum of $600 was raised. NEW CAPE — The program opened with a half-hour concert by the school band, directed by D. R. Kerley, and with musicians wearing new uniform caps made by the Band Parents' Club. Soloists were Marcel Bouvreur, trumpet, and Ken Ryall, clarinetist.

J. A. Dulmage directed the play, with Dale Peatt as student assistant. Stage managers were Gary Tindall, Pat Warrington, and Bob Craddock, and M. J. Moutat was prompter. Judy Perrie was accompanist, and Mrs. Margaret Hall had charge of costumes.

CAST — Gay Young played the woodcutter, and Wendy Hatcher was the princess. Others in the cast were Margaret Raymond, Kenneth Anderson, Bernard Whipples, Lynn Weir, Darryl Muralt, Brian Johnston, Ricky Hyland, Audrey Sturgeon, Paul Willing, Norman Arden, Helaine Burgess, Burgess, Shirley Whitehead, Heather Weins, Linda Rayner, Joanne Tinker, Carolyn Francis, Lynn Hall, and Judy Warrington.

Metochos, Langford, Happy Valley, and Colwood parents' groups shared operation of stalls and other attractions.

Those taking part were Mrs. H. Francis, Mrs. L. Wiert, Miss Olwin Evans, Mrs. L. Gower, Mrs. Norman Rhodes, Mrs. Fred Willing, Mrs. Stanley Owen, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Molokoff, Patti Boulter, Mrs. C. Pike, Kenneth Hincks, Mrs. W. Parker, Mrs. G. Nelson, R. Pauls, I. Moutat, H. Walters, and Don Robson.

Qualicum Recalls Former Trustee To Fill Vacancy

QUALICUM BEACH — Mrs. E. Good, Hilliers, a former trustee of School District 69 (Qualicum), has been reappointed, replacing R. J. King, Errington, whose resignation as trustee was recently accepted.

Approval has been given for the use of the high school auditorium here May 28 for exhibit of the centennial historical caravan bearing documents and articles from the early days of the province. The exhibit will be open to children from schools in the district all day, and to adults in the evening.

9-Month Sentence For Attacking Police Officer

CHEMAINUS (CP) — Donald M. Sherwood, 23, who admitted attacking a police officer while being arrested 10 days ago, was sentenced Tuesday to nine months definite and an equal indefinite sentence.

Magistrate W. H. Bryant said he was giving Sherwood a sentence "which I believe will be appropriate to the offence and one that will likely do you the most good."

Three other men — Richard Douglas, 19; Robert Brooks, 18, and Roger Lampitt, 23 — were remanded until April 30 for trial on $2,000 bail.

WILD FRACAS

They were arrested April 13 after police were beaten with baseball bats during a wild fracas at Chemainus. Const. William Bloxham suffered a fractured back in the fight.

Dickie Named Tory Chief At Cowichan

DUNCAN — Ronald Calvert Dickie, Duncan executive, was elected president of the Cowichan — Newcastle Progressive Conservative Association Tuesday night.

Vice-presidents are J. G. Luckhurst, Honeymoon Bay; H. A. Irwin, Duncan, and George Beaubien, Chemainus. Mrs. Ivan P. Dobbyn, president of the Nanaimo Federal Progressive Conservative Association, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Edward Strongtharm, Nanaimo, and Mrs. Dobbyn were chosen to represent the constituency at the quarterly party meeting in Victoria Saturday. Mrs. A. A. Mutter presented Mrs. Dobbyn with a necklace and earrings, saying "It was your organization that got our candidate elected March 31."

Photostats of Fraser's Journal Used to Plan Centennial Voyage

An historical re-enactment of Simon Fraser's voyage down the turbulent river that bears his name will be based on photostats of Fraser's hand-written journal of the trip.

"We will endeavor to do each day exactly what Fraser did," said British Columbia Centennial Committee spokesman Gordon Hilker, Vancouver, in charge of planning.

Fraser made his epic voyage down the river by canoe 150 years ago.

Westwood Pledges Parks, Campsites In Cowichan Area

DUNCAN—Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce delegates were assured Tuesday by Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle Westwood, that his department is securing and reserving park and camp sites in the Cowichan area for public use.

Meeting with the minister and H. G. McWilliams, head of the parks branch, were J. S. Lawrence, president; Hector C. Stone, director, and J. B. Creighton, secretary of the Duncan-Cowichan chamber.

Work on some of the parks and campsites will start this winter, Mr. Westwood assured the delegation. Places mentioned were Gordon Bay on Cowichan Lake, a fishing reserve on the Cowichan River, MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. property on Shawnigan Lake and at Mill Bay, and a 100-acre reserve on the Chemainus River in the old Hillcrest logging area.

Fly to visit your family or friends for a warm-hearted holiday

TCA Tourist fares are lower this year!

—and you can 'Pay Later' if you wish

Make this the year to see the hometown folks... to look up old acquaintances... or to go to some part of this great, wonderful country that you've always wanted to see. This is the year because you can fly to almost any destination across Canada for less than ever before! TCA's Tourist fares are reduced by up to 20% — and if you wish you can budget the cost of your tickets.

10% down — budget the rest of the fare!

More good news from TCA! Now you can fly TCA throughout Canada or to the United States on TCA's 'Pay later' plan. The plan applies where the fare — or total of fares, where several members of the family are travelling — amounts to $100 or more. No fuss — your signature on one form is all that is needed.

hopes that the public will turn out in Victorian dress too.

THANKSGIVING

Saturday's flamboyance will be transformed into quiet thanksgiving Sunday morning to the memory of B.C.'s pioneers.

Special centennial services will be observed in all churches as the whole province follows Victoria's lead in marking the official opening of the centenary.

At 2:30 p.m. acting premier Eric Martin will read the proclamation for the Day of Prayer from the steps of the Legislative Building.

Hymns, a thanksgiving service and a litany to the men and women who built the province will precede the presentation of centennial flags to Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black, the mayor and reeves of Greater Victoria.

The province's centennial flag will be raised by a squad of RCMP on the Legislative Building grounds. Bands from HMCS Naden and the Salvation Army will perform during the hour-long service.

Civic officials will attend an interdenominational church service in the Memorial Arena at 7:30 p.m. for the public. Rt. Rev. J. S. Thomson, moderator of the United Church in Canada and dean of divinity at McGill University, will be the speaker.

The service will be timed to enable those attending to reach Clover Point by 9 p.m. for the beacon-lighting ceremony.

The Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry drum corps and the 5th Medium Independent Battery band will perform a concert until 9:30 p.m., when Attorney-General Robert Bonner will set fire to a 50-foot-high pile of wood.

SCOUTS' WORK

Wood for the bonfire will be piled up in advance by the Fairfield Rover Scouts. Flames from the beacon will be visible to residents of Port Angeles, where the mayor has promised to light a similar fire in salute.

As the beacon fire flares into the night in Victoria, residents in more than 200 communities across the province will light similar beacon fires and join in singing the National Anthem.

R. D. Richmond, chief engineer, special weapons, Canadair Ltd. Also present at the panel discussion were two high-ranking United States officers, Gen. Melvin F. McNickle, deputy commander of the Air Research and Development Command at Andrews Air Force Base, near Washington, D.C., and Col. Gordon Duncan, of the same base.

At another session, Canadian aircraft manufacturers discussed production of missiles in this country, with a view to urging the government to integrate defence production.

Consensus of opinion was that production of missiles is an easier, faster, and less expensive project than production of aircraft.

More complicated and more expensive is construction of launching bases for the missiles.

Also revealed during the meeting here was the fact that the United States has working plans for a jet aircraft which would travel in the upper stratosphere, or even ionosphere, at 1,500 miles per hour with a payload of 90 to 120 passengers.

It was reported that the problem of disaster to early Comet aircraft—has been solved by metallurgists.

7 Sites Tested For Giant Dam

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sir Thomas Foy, chief consulting engineer for Wenner-Gren interests in B.C., says the company has located seven possible dam sites on the Peace River. Sir Thomas was replying to a report that drilling crews had found a single site for a proposed giant dam on the Peace.

Four of the potential sites are at the western end of the Peace River Canyon, near Finlay Forks, Sir Thomas said. The other three are near Hudson Hope.

New Enthusiasm Hikes Attendance For Tory Parley

By PETE LOUDON

Delegates may have to come early to be sure of a seat when the quarterly meeting of the B.C. Progressive Conservative Party opens at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Empress Hotel.

The party, which earlier booked the joining Queen Charlotte and Albert Rooms with capacity for 125 persons, now expects close to 175 to attend.

FRIENDS COMING

A large number of party "friends" who will have a voice but no vote in the proceedings, are expected, provincial president Gowan T. Guest, Vancouver lawyer, said today.

Some controversy is expected following the announcement that Delta Constituency Association will call for a fall leadership and policy convention.

Although provincial leader Deane Finlayson has stated he would not object to a leadership convention, it is reported many of his supporters would oppose it. There are rumors other names would be put forward as leadership candidates.

These include the name of Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton, whose home riding is Kamloops. Certain sections of the party feel with the new power of the Conservatives in Ottawa, Mr. Fulton could be spared to assist the party in this province.

Pilot Killed

OTTAWA (CP) — A two-engine Beechcraft aircraft owned by the transport department crashed and burned at nearby Uplands Airport today, killing its lone occupant, who was not identified.

Another name mentioned is former B.C. Conservative leader Herbert Anscomb. Names of various "industrialists," new to politics also are being bandied about.

Mr. Guest doubted the Saturday meeting will oppose a fall convention.

"GREAT RALLY"

"The enthusiasm in the party is such that we feel a great rally (or convention), would be a better thing than the regular annual meeting."

However, he added, many persons other than official executives are expected to be heard from.

He said 133 delegates are authorized to attend. Of these 120 are definitely expected.

Also, "... we have indicated any Conservative interested enough to pay his expenses will be welcomed and able to speak, though only delegates may vote; so there will likely be about 50 'friends'."

Fireworks Among the Stars

A rare show was seen in Pacific Northwest skies Tuesday night.

One of the brightest meteors observed in many years put on a spectacular "fireworks" display as it burned up in the earth's atmosphere.

Local reports placed the time of the spectacle at 9:05 p.m. and observers said the meteor flashed across the sky, leaving a long white trail as it disintegrated in a greenish glow.

UNUSUALLY BRIGHT

"It was unusually bright," said Dr. R. M. Petrie, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Saanich, "and one

The ancient Roman tax system included charges on land, property and income, plus poll, luxury, temple and road fees.

Another report came from Aberdeen, Wash., and witnesses said it was travelling south to north. It also was sighted at nearby Hoquiam and Westport. The object also was seen at Rainier, Ore., where Ira Mitchell said it moved across the sky from east to west.

That Putter's Part of John

John Merriman, the unassuming 25-year-old Gorge Vale sharpshooter, has emerged as a strong hope to walk off with the Victoria Daily Times Trophy and the Vancouver Island Open golf championship this year.

Merriman faces Colwood's Ted Colgate, a former champion, in one semifinal test next Sunday at Uplands, while pro Laurie Carroll and Dr. George Bigelow fight it out for the right to step into the other berth.

Merriman, certainly no stranger as far as city golf circles are concerned, continues to amaze everybody with his masterful putting. While others flounder on the green, John moves along steadily, if not always spectacularly.

Golfers who change their style every week, and their putter every second week, may do well to pay attention to a part of the Merriman story.

John has never used another putter or any other stance since he first took up the game more than a dozen years ago. The putter in his bag today is the same club his father first handed him when John was a small lad.

Cedar Hill Golf Club, which leads all city courses in the hole-in-one department, marked down two more aces last weekend.

Both were chalked up Saturday. Art Hanley used a nine iron to sink his tee shot on the 120-yard ninth while veteran Tom Lane scored his ace on the 130-yard sixth, using a five iron.

Tom Jefferson, Ernie MacMillan and John Cook witnessed Hanley's ace while Lane scored his first hole-in-one in 62 years of golfing playing in a threesome with H.A. Wickstrom and W. Walsh.

One Canadian and 10 Americans were listed Monday among golfers exempt from qualifying for the British amateur championship at St. Andrews June 2-7.

The Royal and Ancient announced that 23 golfers would go straight into the championship. All the other entries must qualify—the first time qualifying has been introduced in the 73-year-old tournament.

The exempt Canadian is

A number of golf professionals will often recommend that a player practice in front of a mirror in an effort to pick out some of the flaws in the swing.

There's a lot to be said for that. If you care to go a little farther there are movies. Norm Boden, assistant pro at Gorge Vale, went for movies recently and was extremely surprised at the result.

"I didn't even recognize myself," Norm commented. "You can certainly pick out all the flaws that otherwise might be missed."

Now, it transpires, a California scientist has invented a stroboscopic device designed to help build a good swing. It is an instrument for studying motion by light.

Professor Luis W. Alvarez has received a patent. The patent attorney said one has been given to President Eisenhower and is used in the White House.

Bright flashes illuminate the clubhead at four or five points as it approaches and hits the ball. Glances of the illuminated head are so distinct that the player can tell whether he has the face of the club at the proper angle and whether it meets the ball squarely. He can correct any tendencies to slice, hook or top the ball.

Golf Course Sold

MONTREAL (CP)—The 27-hole Elmridge Golf Club in suburban Dorval has been sold for $1,000,000 to Montreal businessman Joel Stenhal. His plans for the course were not disclosed.

Club officials last year decided to relocate the course. However, they are expected to retain occupancy for another year or two at the present site.

Par Competition

Mrs. S. A. Maddocks captured "A" division laurels in the ladies' monthly par competition at Victoria Golf Club Tuesday with a score of 2-down.

Mrs. E. L. Keyes topped "B" division entrants with a count of 2-up and Mrs. A. Guilford fired a score of 2-up to lead "C" division.

Uplands Pairing Takes Net Title

Mrs. C. English and Mrs. L. Rutter, of Uplands, captured net honors in the annual Canadian Ladies' Golf Union foursomes tournament when they combined for a 79 in the qualifying round at Gorge Vale Golf Club Monday.

Fifty teams from city clubs are entered. Teams move into flight play Friday at Uplands, with the first foursomes moving off the tee at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. M. Bowden and Mrs. R. O. Alexander, with a net 80½, were runners-up in the medal round—The Gorge Vale pairing

Boxing Brass Believes Bread Buttered by TV

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Boxing has been taken over by television, Truman Gibson admitted today on becoming president of the International Boxing Club, and like many other phases of teevee entertainment it lays its share of eggs.

"We basically are in the television business," said the 46-year-old Chicago attorney who succeeded the ailing Jim Norris as IBC head. "We have had repercussions from the sponsors from time to time but have had a free hand so far in arranging our shows."

What kind of repercussions?

"Well," he said quietly, "some times, like after the Eddie Machen-Zora Folley bout, the sponsors say they were disappointed because they expected a helluva fight. We tell 'em... we did too."

WHO'S IMPORTANT?

Gibson asserts that he hopes the time will never arrive when there will be no live audiences at boxing shows. But he left no doubt if it had to come to a choice between the magic camera and the in-the-flesh fight fan, the fight fan would have to go.

Gibson, the new head of the IBC, is a man who speaks with quiet firmness and makes it evident that he isn't going to sit still like his predecessor and let anybody libel him—in print or out.

"Norris was one of those people who were inclined to let such things slide by," he said. "But if people make such direct charges at me as they did at him, I'll give 'em a chance to prove it in court."

Nor, he allowed, would the IBC dignify the attacks of Gus D'Amato, manager of heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, who has said that he will not bargain for a title defence under IBC sponsorship until the promotional outfit gives up one of its two weekly fight telecasts.

IT'S IN PRINT

"Our Friday night television contracts run through September, 1959, and our Wednesday night fights through May of 1959," he said. "We have no cancellation provisions—so we have no prospects of staging a heavyweight championship."

The IBC organization will remain just as it was under Norris. Joe Louis will be retained as a $20,000 a year "director of boxing"; Billy Brown will stay on as matchmaker, and the only difference is that Gibson, a University of Chicago law graduate who served on several presidential commissions, will pull the strings.

But Gibson made it plain that he would not hold still for the "libelous" remarks. If and when he takes libel action against anyone, he added, he wouldn't act as his own counsel.

"A man who is his own lawyer has a fool or a client," the dapper Gibson explained. So the drama critics had better be careful...

Ontario League Woes Brantford

BRANTFORD (CP)—The Ontario Rugby Football Union has asked Brantford to consider a senior entry in 1958.

Mayor M. Sherman said he has received a letter from J. F. MacPherson of Sarnia Golden Bears, one of the ORFU's four senior teams, suggesting Brantford as an ideal location for a senior entry.

Mayor Sherman is turning the suggestion over to officials of Brantford Tiger-Cats, an ORFU intermediate team last season.

Pats, Baby Habs Open Junior Series Friday

OTTAWA (CP)—The Western Canada junior hockey champions, Regina Pats, arrived here Tuesday, the first Regina team to visit Ottawa since 1949.

The Pats open a seven-game final for the Memorial Cup and the Canadian junior championship here on Friday against Ottawa-Hull Junior Canadiens. The Junior Habs moved into the final Monday night with a 9-0 win over Toronto Marlboros.

Last Regina team in Ottawa was the Caps. They made an unsuccessful bid in 1949 for the Allan Cup against the now-defunct Ottawa Senators.

Other dates are April 27, in Hull; April 29, in either Ottawa or Hull; and May 2, in Ottawa.

Further games, if necessary, will be May 4, in Hull; May 5, in Ottawa or Hull, and May 9, in Ottawa.

Canadian Amateur Hockey Association rules allow Pats to pick up three additions for the East-West competition. They are forwards Bill and Kenny Saunders, both of St. Boniface Canadiens; defenceman Jerry Serviss, of Estevan Bruins.

Serviss joined New Westminster Royals, of the Western Hockey League, after Estevan was eliminated by Regina from the Saskatchewan Junior League play-offs.

Draw in Opener

L. Basanta and Dr. S. Marinker played to a draw in the first game of their playoff for the Victoria and District chess championship at Victoria City Chess Club Tuesday night.

The match had been adjourned from the previous week.

STORM OF PROTEST has been raised by municipal officials over the revenue graph shown at right in this breakdown of the 1958 budget for the Greater Victoria school system. Taxpayers in the district will have to contribute 52.75 per cent of the cost, representing an increase of $434,079, while the government's share at 44.51 per cent represents an increase of only $234,976 under the new formula.

Province School Grants Boosted In 66 Districts

A comparative scale of provincial school grants for 1957 and 1958, issued by the education department Tuesday, shows 66 out of 103 school districts will receive increased aid this year.

Thirty-two districts will receive less and grants to five will be almost unchanged.

The schedule shows educational aid by the province to Victoria will be increased $701,000 this year, for a record total of $2,275,456.

NOT IN PROPORTION

Many school districts have complained, however, that school costs have increased in greater proportion than the assistance grants, and in effect, the percentage of provincial aid is less.

Reductions in government aid are due to an increase in local assessments. In fast-growing Alberni, for instance, the government grants are reduced this year from $498,901 to $279,705.

BREAK-DOWN OF AID

Here are comparative figures for other Island school districts, with 1957 figures in brackets:

Sooke $307,056 (down $1,800); Saanich, $369,088 (up $40,000); Salt Spring, $117,530 (up $20,000); Cowichan, $334,983 (down $81,000); Lake Cowichan, $139,274 (same); Ladysmith, $308,549 (up $51,000); Nanaimo, $652,185 (up $85,000); Qualicum, $234,515 (up $3,500); Courtenay, $600,601 (up $63,000); Campbell River, $268,049 (up $50,000); and Alert Bay, $96,845 (down $9,000).

Dickens Club Re-Elects Watherston

E. F. Watherston was unanimously re-elected president of the Dickens Fellowship, Victoria branch, at its annual meeting Monday night.

Henry W. Maunsell was elected vice-president. Mrs. Dorothy H. White secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Dorothy Bradbury hostess.

The branch discussed plans for a lecture-recital to be given in Victoria next October by Jack Graves, an official of the Dickens Fellowship in London, Eng., who is to make a cross-Canada tour in the fall.

Readings from Dickens' novel, "Martin Chuzzlewit," were given by Mrs. E. J. Spilsbury and Ronald Narracott.

Funeral Held Here For Former Albertan

Funeral service was held recently for Mrs. Margaret Alice Williams, 81, of 833 Leslie, who died in Victoria April 15.

Mrs. Williams lived in Edmonton until 1948, where she was a charter member of the Edmonton Women's Canadian Club and a member of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire and the Edmonton Musical Club.

A teacher, she also was active in the Junior Red Cross and amateur theatricals for children.

She lived in Victoria for the past 10 years. Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. F. C. V. McKenney, Duncan; Mrs. F. O. Roth, Edmonton; and Mrs. A. Cyril Thomas, Victoria; one son, Harry Kilpatrick, Calgary; and six grandchildren.

Defiant Alderman Stays

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—A bid to fire Ald. Jack Cornett as a Vancouver representative on the Greater Vancouver water board was defeated Tuesday in a 6-5 vote by city council.

Ald. Cornett had defied city council's instruction and opposed a fluoridation measure put to the board by Vancouver.

In a vigorous exchange, Ald. Cornett was asked whether he would oppose fluoridation if a majority of other municipalities on the board eventually favor the move. He replied he didn't think it was a relevant question and added it was his privilege to vote any way he wished.

The council also carried a motion to fire any representatives to boards within the city if they didn't follow orders.

TOT KILLED BY TRUCK

VANCOUVER—Three-year-old David Clearie was killed Tuesday night when struck by a loaded lumber truck in Vancouver's East End. The driver of the truck said he did not see the youngster.

BOER WAR VET DIES

VANCOUVER—William Hepburn, 87, who at the age of 18 stormed the Dargai Heights in India with the 1st Gordon Highlanders during the bitter Tirak campaign for control of the Khyber Pass, died in hospital here. He also served in the Boer War and enlisted with the 1st Canadian Mounted Rifles during the First World War.

DEATH RULED ACCIDENT

VANCOUVER—A coroner's jury of three seamen and three longshoremen ruled on Tuesday that 34-year-old Eric Vaughan Jones of Wales died accidentally in a fall aboard a British freighter, but made recommendations for improved safety in unloading operations.

Jones, a crew member of the Portland Star, fell to his death in the hold last Friday while the vessel was docked here and unloading cargo.

Atom Sub to Visit Puget Sound Ports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The navy's atomic submarine Nautilus will visit the Puget Sound region in June. It was reported today.

The sub is scheduled to call at Port Angeles and Everett June 23 and be in Seattle June 28.

The visits, second for the Nautilus in this area, will be made in conjunction with a two-month Pacific Ocean cruise, the navy said.

POLICEMAN'S LOT IS NOT A HAPPY ONE

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—This is a week that traffic officer, Walter Kilgore will remember.

Monday he lost his motorcycle. Tuesday he lost his pants.

The motorcycle went up in smoke while the frustrated officer stood by, listening to its radio ordering him to proceed to a fire. Kilgore was there.

Two deer wandered into a heavily populated area Tuesday, and Kilgore was ordered to disperse them. He arrived, on his new motorcycle, and grappled with one of the deer. Kilgore's pants were well gored.

32 Education Hearings Scheduled

VANCOUVER (CP)—Hearings of the B.C. Royal Commission on Education will be held in 32 centres and likely will not be completed until June. 1959, Dean S. N. F. Chant of University of B.C., commission chairman, said Tuesday.

Dean Chant said the first hearing will be in Lillooet during the last week of next month, but a precise schedule is not yet complete.

"One of the major aims of the commission is to encourage public interest and to know its opinions," the dean said. He said about 20 "letter briefs" so far have been received from individuals on various aspects of the B.C. school system.

Sentenced to Death

MLA BACKS PROTESTS

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Social Credit member of the Legislature agreed Tuesday with city council that Vancouver is entitled to more members in the Legislature and better treatment on provincial highway grants.

Vancouver East MLA Fred Sharp, at his own request, met with city council to answer recent criticisms, particularly on school grants. Mr. Sharp agreed with Ald. Reg Atherton that Vancouver—because of its population—is entitled to more members and a greater voice in the Legislature.

CASE OF BREAKING, ENTERING

Trail of debris leading into this tidy front garden was caused when the auto shown, driven by Ljos Mar'sa, 1152 Leonard, was in collision Tuesday evening with a car owned by Heinz Wirth, 47 Menzies, parked on Menzies.

MONTE ROBERTS

It is seldom I do anything about anonymous letters. Including reading them.

But one arrived today which intrigues me, despite the fact I had to call in a handwriting expert to decipher it. As closely as the expert and I can figure out, the letter says:

"You say you are a native son. Do you want a medal for it, there is a lot of native sons in Canada, they are the same as the Ku Klux Klan in the States. I know a little boy about two years of age that is a native son, and every time he opens his big mouth he tells it to the whole civilized world. I also know a lot more native sons here and they have no use for the English or anything that comes from England. I have found out that the average native son would not give his fellow man the right time. They are too miserable. 'Doc Yak.'

The reason this letter intrigues me is, I didn't realize there was resentment against those of us whose parents had enough sense to be in this country when we were born. It is possible that 'Doc Yak' is making an attempt at humor, but from the tone of his letter, I don't think so. And it is also possible—just barely—that we native sons are a bit insufferable. It is a little hard not to be smug about being a native son of this, the fairest city of them all. On the other hand, as My Favorite Wife, who was born over 'ome, points out, native sons are Canadians by accident. SHE and her compatriots who now live here are Canadians by choice. It disturbs me to think there are people like 'Doc Yak.' After all, it must be possible for Canadians by accident and Canadians by choice to live in peaceful co-existence.

Still I can't help but close with a quote from Rudyard Kipling—who was an Englishman's Englishman if anyone ever was. 'British Columbia . . . If I had known what it was like, I wouldn't have been content with a mere visit. I'd have been born here.'

There I go, opening my big mouth again like any two-year-old native son.

Victorian Wins Fellowship To Study in U.S.

Douglas M. Shrimpton, 23, of 2248 Edgemoor, has been awarded a $2,760 fellowship to attend the University of Chicago this fall. UBC information office announced today.

Mr. Shrimpton received the Charles and Frances Hutchinson fellowship which will enable him to work on his PhD in plant physiology. A UBC graduate in plant physiology, he will receive his MA degree at the May congregation.

Mr. Shrimpton attended Mount Douglas High School and Victoria College here. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Shrimpton.

College Project All Set

One-Floor Addition For Ewing Building

Plans to add a third floor to the Ewing Building at Victoria College were announced today by deputy public works minister Clive Campbell.

The addition will provide space for one large classroom, a smaller classroom, a large student activity room and offices.

Construction, slated to start in June, should be completed by September college opening, Mr. Campbell said.

With college enrolment expected to reach 1,000 by 1960, the plans provide for conversion of the third floor to eight classrooms sometime in the future.

COMPROMISE
Dr. W. H. Hickman, principal, stressed today the addition is "only a compromise and a stop-gap."

"We shall require one new building a year for five years to provide for the natural growth that will take place," he said.

The addition will release the large student activity room in the basement of the building for library expansion.

"Even that extension will be just temporary," head librarian Albert Pratt said. "In two years we will be cramped for space again."

JAMMED
Library shelves are now jammed to capacity, he said, at a time when the college is purchasing some 5,000 new books a year.

The present reading room seats only one-third of the student body.

Cost of the addition has not been estimated, the deputy minister said. Plans will not be finished until late May.

Meanwhile—as another "stop-gap" the college council has decided to purchase three huts from Gordon Head Army Camp.

They will be transferred to the campus in May, Dr. Hickman said.

One will be used to supplement the cafeteria, another for an addition to the chemistry laboratory hut, and the third for student activity rooms and faculty offices or lecture rooms.

Quadra Island To Get New Power Cable

Replacement of the B.C. Power Commission's 13,800-volt transmission line span across Seymour Narrows to Quadra Island will begin next week, Col. D. C. Stevenson, senior construction engineer, announced today.

The original span, erected in 1956, was destroyed in the Ripple Rock blast April 5. Since that time 100 Quadra Island customers have received their power from a 200-HP diesel generating set.

Col. Stevenson said the replacement job will be undertaken by a Power Commission construction division crew under the supervision of W. G. Risk, construction superintendent, Alberni. He said the new span will be in the exact location of the initial 3,227-foot, triple conductor span but will have four cables and will be slightly longer and higher.

Wood pole structures on either side of the Narrows which were extensively damaged by the blast have been replaced. Permanent aerial markers will be substituted by two-foot diameter aluminum spheres.

Greater Victoria—Citizenship Council will hold a welcome ceremony for new Canadians receiving their citizenship papers at the court house Thursday morning.

Dr. W. H. Hickman, Victoria College principal, will speak at the ceremony at the T. Eaton Co.

A new hall at Esquimalt branch Canadian Legion will be opened tonight at 7 p.m. by Commodore (E) J. B. Caldwell, RCN. Reeve A. C. Wurtele and other dignitaries will attend. A dance will be held to climax the opening week, Friday.

MAYOR CARRIE JANE GRAY
... before commission

Woman Mayor Protests At Probe Here

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Mayor Carrie Jane Gray, woman mayor of Prince George, appeared before the Borden Commission on Energy today to protest the "highly discriminatory price" her city is being asked to pay for Peace River natural gas.

She is the only woman to appear before the commission since hearings opened at the Empress Hotel Monday.

Slim and quiet-voiced, Mayor Gray spoke in support of a brief presented jointly by the Prince George Gas Co. and the City of Prince George and read by Hume Wright, executive vice-president of the company.

McMAHON SCHEDULED
Frank McMahon, president of West Coast Transmission Co., was to address the commission this afternoon.

The Prince George brief stated that an average wholesale price of 83 cents per thousand cubic feet of gas was being asked of the city. It added that the Prince George company, with the support of the city, has refused to pay this price.

Mayor Gray claimed there was "no logical justification on any grounds" for trying to force Prince George to pay this price.

Mayor Gray said when the Prince George Gas Co. received the franchise from the city, it received the full support of the city.

"All the company has ever sought to do is to construct a four and a half mile connecting line from Prince George to the Westcoast Transmission line, and to purchase a supply of gas from Westcoast at the regular Westcoast rate."

The mayor stated that Prince George had not asked for special treatment because the city was located near the gas fields.

GATE PRICE
The gate price at Prince George worked out at 54 cents a thousand feet at the regular Westcoast rate.

"This is about 20 cents more than inland and the B.C. Electric pay. It is also more than the flat gate price of 45 cents for a small U.S. community buying the same Canadian gas from the same Peace River fields."

Mayor Gray admitted that sale of Canadian natural gas in the U.S. was justified because B.C. has no large markets to absorb it—as yet. She added:

"If our natural gas continues to be hoarded in Canada at 50 per cent higher prices than in the U.S., we never will have big industrial markets to absorb it."

The brief presented by Mr. Wright stated in terms of load factors involved, the proposed price at Prince George was "close to four times the export price."

Applying the same load factor, "Prince George is being asked to pay 50 per cent more than other B.C. Utilities."

Saanich Roads To Get Facelift

$108,000 Project Given Works Committee Approval

A two-year $108,000 road improvement program for Saanich was approved Tuesday by the council's public works committee.

The program calls for the application this summer of an asphalt seal coat and pea gravel surface on 13 miles of road in the Gorge district at a cost of about $28,000.

The committee also approved the application of a penetrating coat—liquid asphalt—on about 20 miles of gravel roads in other parts of the municipality. It will cost about $80,000.

Work on this project will start next year.

On the Gorge project, 40 roads are involved in an area bounded by Harriet Road on the east, Battleford Avenue and Colquitz Creek on the north, Portage Inlet on the west, and Victoria Arm on the south.

The municipality will pay $12,000 towards the cost of the project.

Property owners in the area each will pay $7 for one year only.

The committee approved the project under section 513 of the Municipal Act which does not require council to submit a money bylaw for road improvements and maintenance.

It is the first time Saanich has made use of this section of the act which enables municipalities to tax property owners without first seeking their approval.

TOO COSTLY

Coun. George Chatterton said the committee approved the program because the state of the roads in the Gorge area were proving too costly to maintain.

"Many of the roads have a black top surface which are badly in need of repairs," he said. "It was felt that if the base of the roads were improved and a proper seal coat applied, it would bring down the cost of maintenance."

He said council was trying to get away from the past policy of patching roads here and there.

DIDN'T LAST

"It is too costly," he said. "Last year Saanich spent $160,000 on road maintenance—most of it on patch work which did not last."

The committee decided to wait until next year before making a start on improving the gravel roads.

The municipality will only share a part of the cost for this project.

The committee estimated that it would cost property owners $20 each for improving the gravel roads. This would be collected in taxes over a period of two or three years.

Gravel roads involved are mostly those situated outside the sewer area or fringing the urban districts.

Saanich Flier Found Guilty On Another Count

Saanich rock blaster James R. Gillespie, 3821 Epsom, was found guilty in city police court today of failing to produce his pilot's licence and aircraft journey log on demand of a transport department official.

He was found guilty a week ago of flying an unregistered aircraft and flying an aircraft without a certificate of registration on board. Gillespie was remanded for sentence to next Tuesday.

Cases were heard before Magistrate H. C. Hall, acting for the justice department as a stipendiary magistrate.

Higher Court Trial Ordered For Brothers

Hearing Completed In Sooke Safe Theft

Bail was set at $10,000 each. The brothers are charged jointly with breaking, entering and theft of $8,000 in cash, cheques and securities from Walter Conder Real Estate Ltd. Roy also is charged with possession of an offensive weapon and of explosives.

More than 13 exhibits, including clothing, tools, tire impressions and photographs, were entered Tuesday by prosecutor Lloyd G. McKenzie at the hearing in Victoria RCMP detachment.

TIRE MARKINGS

Staff Sgt. John H. S. Jones, in charge of the identification section, Victoria RCMP, testified tire markings from a Ford panel truck at Camp Barnard Boy Scout camp in Sooke—where the smashed safe was found—were "similar" to tire markings outside the realty office.

He also submitted a sketch showing markings on the rear floor of the truck which corresponded to wheel measurements of the safe.

SAME SOURCE

Insulation material found on tools "could have originated from the same source as the insulation material in the envelope," he told the court.

The material also was found on a pair of trousers and boots, he said.

Fibres taken from a ripped edge of the safe corresponded in most regards to denim trousers, boots, jackets and gloves submitted to the detection lab for tests, Const. William R. Picton testified.

Welfare Worker Appointed Researcher for Strachan

A provincial social welfare worker at Haney, John H. Wood, has been appointed research secretary to the leader of the opposition in B.C.

The new post was approved at the last session of the legislature at the request of CCF leader Robert Strachan.

Mr. Wood, 39, married with two children, was educated in England and served in wartime with the Royal Artillery. He was later pensions and welfare officer of the British Legion in Scotland and served on a British government advisory committee on veterans' affairs. The appointment is effective May 16.

City Student Wins $1,200 Scholarship

John R. G. Pritchard, 23, of Victoria has been awarded a $1,200 scholarship, tenable in Canada, by the National Research Council, it was announced today in Vancouver.

He is one of 41 University of British Columbia graduates awarded scholarships by the research council.

Born in Victoria he was educated at Mount View High School and Victoria College before enrolling at the University of B.C. He was graduated in 1957 with a degree in physics, and is presently working toward his master's degree.

Similar awards were made to David J. Huntley of Brentwood Bay and Mary Todd, Esquimalt.

Bursaries of $1,000 each were granted George T. Needler, Nanaimo; Gerard H. Gubbels, Victoria; Michael Schulzer, Victoria, and Gael Stott, Victoria. Post-doctorate overseas fellowships of $2,700 each were awarded Howard N. Rundle, now at the University of Saskatchewan, and D. S. Bowering, now at McGill. Both men will go to Cambridge.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. I own three-quarters of an acre of land with a home on it and have lived here 10 years. Should they continue to widen this road (Downey Road, Sidney) our well, fruit and few shrubs will be in danger. Can they take this from us without recompense? E.S.

A. If the acreage is your personal property, and the highways department needs it, there is a scale of values the department uses for payments. There is recompense. Only time there is no recompense is if the property is Crown land without improvements on it.

Anyone asking a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, addressed to "Ask The Times," Editor, Questions and answers will be published daily. Centennial Tablecloths Imported From Ireland

By PENNY SAVER

Cover your meal table with centennial cheer! Or should I say cover it with a custom made British Columbia centennial tablecloth, made especially for this big year, in the linen country, Ireland. With a white background, symbols of our fair province are woven in bright reds, blues and yellows all over the cloth.

There are pictures of totem poles, mountains, trees and the Parliament Buildings. It's wonderful for price too. Just $1.25! How about buying a few to send to out-of-the-province friends?

Giving a shower for a bride-elect? Why not make it a linen shower? Housewives can never have too many tablecloths, pillow slips and towels.

There are some wonderful buys in linen just now, such as pastel-toned dinner sets. Pure Irish linen 52 by 70-inch cloths complete with a set of four napkins are selling at $6.50 a set. Colors are pink, blue, green and yellow.

Match your tea cloths and tea towels to your china set! How? Well the shop I visited this morning had a wide selection of well-known china patterns woven in to pure linen tea cloths. Among the prints was the Blue Willow plate and of course... a Wedgwood pattern! They're fast color items selling at $1 each.

For the lady with a modern outlook, there is a set of the most attractive luncheon mats. Hand-loomed, these mats are washable and come in a wide range of shades. A set of four is $3.95.

How thoughtful! That's the way I felt when I opened an envelope from a friend recently. A lovely—linen—handkerchief popped out with a gay floral design on the corner. It's nothing to send such a tiny gift through the mail... not when it brings such cheer! I've found just the hankies you'll want to send to friends. They're priced at 50 cents each. Why, they are hand-embroidered too!

Phone me at 2-3131 if you'd like to know where I've been shopping.

Thankoffering.—Mrs. A. C. Hamill of Emmanuel Baptist Church addressed a thankoffering meeting of First United Church afternoon auxiliary of Women's Missionary Society recently. Her topic was "Mountaintop Experiences." Mrs. W. J. McIntyre presided and led devotions. Mrs. J. Boyd was soloist. A social hour followed at which Mrs. James Parry and committee served refreshments.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Ten Pounds 'Over'? Play Clothes Are Out

Don't be lulled by "the sack." It may not be with us for long and anyway many of you will want to wear two-piece swim suits and play clothes very soon!

These garments are impossible looking when worn by a woman who is even 10 pounds overweight. This is especially true when she has a pad of fat over her diaphragm (the area just below the bust and above the waist.)

I mentioned recently that the diaphragm is a stubborn spot and without exercise may cling to its fatty deposits even when the pounds are dropping away.

The two-piece bathing suit is most becoming to many types of figure. Therefore I am concentrating on exercise which will slim this portion of the body. You have to lose those 10 pounds, too, though!

Circus time is again approaching. This makes me wonder if you ever have noticed how smoothly muscled and yet slim of figure the feminine artists of the high wire are? No fat on their diaphragms!

Perhaps the nearest thing to a high wire in your life is the clothesline in the backyard, but you still can do stretching which will slim this measurement. Remember also to carry yourself so that the distance between your waist and your bust is the longest possible. This is one of the requirements of a lovely figure.

Exercise: Stand tall with your feet comfortably separated. Bend your elbows and place your fingertips on your shoulders. Keep your hands in this position as you bend back toward the right. Hold a few moments. Return trunk to upright position. Continue. Do this slowly, feeling the pull over your diaphragm.

Yesterday I printed the last of the menus of my Nine-Day Reducing Diet which gives you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days. If you missed out on it, you still can have the complete diet in a convenient little booklet. Send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Nine-Day Diet booklet to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

HAIR STYLES SHORTER; RETURN TO SHINGLE

LONDON (AP)—Milady's hair styles this year will match her skirts—both are getting shorter and shorter, British hairdressers were told.

Harold J. Semmens, head of the ancient London organization known as the Guild of Hairdressers, Wigmakers and Perfumers, told the annual meeting:

"And now that the fashion designers have agreed to raise the hemline, hair styles will become very much shorter this year—even a return to the shingle worn with a variety of fringes is foreseen."

How most girls and women got relief from SPECIAL FEMALE PAIN, DISTRESS!

Tests show both monthly cramps and tension, and "hot flashes" of change-of-life, may be effectively relieved by tablets specially created for women.

Is "female suffering" handicapping women as it did in grandmother's day? NO—not among those who rely on scientific findings to get relief! They find such suffering in most cases can be relieved!

Such are the findings of tests made under scientific auspices at our direction. In these tests, the majority of women benefited... many strikingly!

The combination of medicines these women found so effective was developed especially for the ailments of women... and is available under the name of Lydia E. Pinkham's Tablets.

The relief they give from monthly cramps, backaches, headaches is equalled by the soothing effect they have on "hot flashes" and other distress of change-of-life. Pinkham's also helps older women with blood-strengthening iron!

So—whatever your age, chances are you'll feel better by taking Pinkham's Tablets as needed. Thousands have taken them for years.

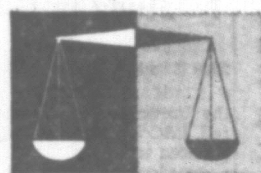

See if you don't get the same benefits they have obtained.

CANADA'S CAR OUTPUT SUFFERS SHARP DECLINE

TORONTO (BUP)—The Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce today issued some gloom-ridden statistics for Canada's auto industry operations during the first three months of 1958.

Output during the quarter totalled 83,837 cars and 14,778 trucks, compared with nearly 106,000 cars and more than 20,000 trucks last year.

The total payroll for the first three months of 1958 was about $36,836,000, compared with more than $44 million last year.

Losses Fractional In Toronto Trading

The stock market at Toronto was easier today in moderately active mid-afternoon trading. Refining oils, utilities, steels and financial institutions were the leading groups on the decline.

Most losses, however, slipped into a fractional range with few issues showing declines of more than one-half.

Rail shares led ground and most leading industrials declined as the New York market continued lower in moderate trading.

Trade Balance Shows Marked Improvement

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's trade deficit, slashed by a sharp drop in imports, fell to $101,200,000 in the first three months of this year, less than half the level of a year earlier.

The bureau of statistics reported today the deficit—excess of imports over exports—compared with $241,000,000 in the first quarter of 1957.

Imports of $1,193,000,000 during January-March were 12 per cent below the $1,359,300,000 in the corresponding period of 1957.

Exports declined about 2 per cent to $1,091,800,000 from $1,118,500,000.

The major drop in imports was recorded in Canada's trade with the United States, where Canadian purchases dropped to $864,100,000 from $1,029,300,000.

Canadian exports to the U.S. declined to $655,600,000 from $660,800,000.

Thus Canada's trade deficit with the U.S. in the first quarter of the year was cut to $208,500,000 from $368,500,000 a year earlier.

In trade with the United Kingdom, imports rose to $116,000,000 from $113,700,000 and exports dipped to $158,000,000 from $161,600,000.

The trade deficit for March was slashed by 50 per cent to $50,800,000 from $100,700,000.

The bureau said the marked improvement in the trade balance during the month resulted chiefly from a smaller deficit in trade with the U.S., where the deficit was $91,000,000 compared with $126,000,000 a year earlier.

Dealing with the division of Canada's trade during January-March, the bureau said the U.S. took 60 per cent of Canada's exports—about the same level as in the last two years.

Britain's share of Canada's export trade showed no change. But exports rose to $74,900,000, 7 per cent of the total, due in part to grain shipments to India.

Great Northern Gas Utilities Ltd.

(Incorporated under the laws of Canada)

5 3/4% Debentures, Series B

To be dated May 1, 1958

To mature May 1, 1978

Principal and half-yearly interest (May 1 and November 1) and premium, if any, payable in lawful money of Canada at any branch in Canada (far northern branches excepted) of the Company's bankers. The debentures will be issued in coupon form in denominations of $500 and $1,000, and authorized multiples of $1,000.

Stock Purchase Warrants, Series B

The debentures, when originally issued in definitive form, will be accompanied by Stock Purchase Warrants, Series B, entitling the holders thereof to purchase common shares in the capital stock of the Company at the rate of 40 shares as presently constituted in respect of each $1,000 principal amount of debentures on the following terms:

On or before September 14, 1960.....$ 7.00 per share, thereafter and on or before September 14, 1961.....$ 8.00 per share, thereafter and on or before September 14, 1962.....$ 9.00 per share, thereafter and on or before September 14, 1963.....$10.00 per share, thereafter and on or before September 14, 1964.....$11.00 per share, thereafter and on or before September 14, 1965.....$12.00 per share.

Holders of Stock Purchase Warrants, Series B, may tender Series B debentures at their principal amount, in lieu of cash, in satisfaction (to the extent of even multiples of $500) of the subscription price for common shares payable upon the exercise of the warrants.

Stock Purchase Warrants, Series B are now traded on the Toronto Stock Exchange and it is expected that the additional Stock Purchase Warrants, Series B proposed to be issued will also be traded on such Exchange.

Trustee: Montreal Trust Company

We, as principals, offer these 5 3/4% Debentures, Series B subject to prior sale, if as and when issued and accepted by us and subject to the approval of all legal matters by the Company's counsel, Messrs. Kane and Hurlbut, Edmonton, and by our counsel, Messrs. Blake, Cassels & Graydon, Toronto.

Price: 100 and accrued interest.

It is expected that interim debentures will be available for delivery on or about May 6, 1958.

A prospectus, a copy of which has been filed under the provisions of the Companies Act, will be promptly furnished on request.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

"Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who without the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 25-cent set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times. Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Connie Robertson, 10, Dakota City, Ia., for her question:

What Kind of Plant Is Moss?

Mother Nature's carpet is made of moss. She is a good housekeeper and a good house-keeper puts down the carpet before she moves in the heavy furniture. Mother Nature decided to furnish the bare land many millions of years ago. At that time all living things were in the sea. They had to learn to live on the dry land in easy stages.

First came the bacteria and the algae. They chewed up the powdered rocks and made the first soil. Now the land was ready to support more complex plants. These were the mosses. They thrived and spread wherever there was soil and moisture. The bare earth was clothed with vast stretches of velvety green carpet.

As the mosses grew they improved the soil and added oxygen to the air. They used sunshine and water to make food and used the food for their growth. In the process, they poured oxygen into the air. Their tender green foliage died, decayed and added its valuable chemicals to the ground. The living carpet of moss helped make the soil suitable for more complex plants and for the arrival of the animals. There are over 13,000 varieties of moss and they grow almost everywhere. There are mosses on the cold, bitter peaks of Antarctica, in the deserts and in the tropics. One variety grows under the deep waters of a Swiss lake. But most mosses grow in damp, shady places. They cling to stones besides the streams, to old logs and shady tree trunks. They grow on the forest floor under old leaves and sometimes hide their vivid green under the snow.

Study the beautiful foliage of the various mosses under a magnifying glass. The pin cushion moss is a velvety hump. The fern-like moss is a rug of miniature fern-like foliage. The juniper hair-cap moss is a mass of leafy spikes.

Mosses are simple, flowerless plants. The yellow-headed pins you see on the pin cushion moss are really spore cases. They are just about ready to scatter their dusty spores into the wind. Each little spore has two parents and the process of making the spores is very complex.

Rain Carries New Cells

The cells for making new plants are of two sorts. Sometimes one plant produces both cells. More often the parents are two different plants. The papa produces antheridia cells. The mama produces archegonia cells. These cells grow at the top of the leafy foliage. The antheridia cells wait for the dew or the rain. Then they swim off to join the archegonia cells. The next stage develops in the mama's crown of foliage.

A slender stem grows and at its top is a drooping head. The head is a spore case shaped like a pepper shaker. The holes are spaces between a circle of teeth. The shaker is sealed with

WHAT EXACTLY ARE FOSSILS?

The word fossil means something that has been dug up from the ground. In science it has a special meaning. It means something that has been preserved or buried for a long, long time and that particular something must once have been alive. It may be the remains of ancient animal life, plant life or animal and plant life mixed together. Fossil remains may also be the imprints of ancient living things left to harden in the mud.

OUTDOOR ASHTRAYS made first appearance in New York today in a cleaner-city campaign. Sanitation officials said people who don't use them—wherever possible—may get court summons. They are sandfilled aluminum containers and cost $19.30 each, but officials believe they'll help cut cost of sweeping butts from street. (AP Wirephoto.)

Box-Top Gimmicks Give Children 'False Values'

REGINA (CP)—An official of a huge wholesale co-operative says there are no words in the English language to describe persons who attempt to "proselytize" children into buying certain breakfast cereals through the use of "gimmicks."

H. L. Fowler, secretary of Federated Co-Operatives Ltd., recited before the royal commission on price spreads Tuesday the case of an ailing 10-year-old boy—son of deeply religious parents—who started saving cereal box tops in the hope of winning a bicycle. He said the child got the box-top urge through a radio advertisement and was deeply hurt when he didn't win. His parents questioned whether this "form of gambling" was not giving the boy "a false sense of values," even to the point of "contributing to juvenile delinquency."

The cereal manufacturer had used the box-top gimmick to boost sales. In the eyes of Mr. Fowler, there were no words to describe such persons who try to sway children in this way simply to gain their own ends.

LITTLE WHEAT IN BOX

He spoke of other cases. He had picked up a package of puffed wheat selling for 24 cents and found the total wheat contents in the product was valued at less than 1 cent.

He had compared two packages of breakfast food made by the same firm. One sold at 42 cents without a cup; the other at 65 cents with a cup. The consumer was paying 23 cents for the cup. He took it to a china shop and found it retailed at 19 cents. The wholesale value was less than 11 cents.

"That company should say it is selling crockery and throwing in food as a premium. I don't know if it is making any profit on the food; it certainly is making profit on the crockery," Mr. Fowler introduced the cup as evidence before the commission.

He used the cases to illustrate his argument that excessive profits, duplication of facilities, fancy packaging, the handling of a multiplicity of similar brands by the same store, trading stamps, heavy advertising and various gimmicks can add to the spread between the producer's selling price and the cost to the consumer.

CO-OPERATION THEME

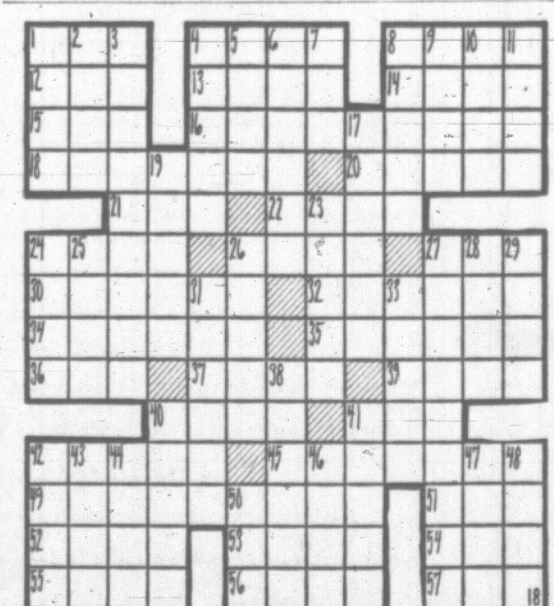

The way to narrow spreads, he suggested, was through greater use of co-operatives, on the producer, manufacturing and consumer levels. Co-operatives did not need any traveling salesmen. They did not have to indulge in heavy advertising to draw customers into their stores. Customers came in because it was "their own store."

Commission member Bernard Couvrette of Montreal, a prominent wholesaler, took issue on some points. Wasn't it an argument to consider, he suggested, that the current pattern of retail selling developed simply because consumers want it that way.

Perhaps, replied Mr. Fowler, he was wrong to suggest that price spreads were too large. Perhaps he had no right to be the guardian of the consumer's economic destiny. But those who believe in the co-operative movement feel they are right.

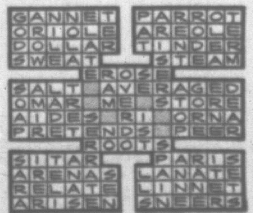

Perhaps they were "lone voices in the wilderness" urging consumers into another path. Mr. Couvrette observed co-operatives felt supermarkets had over-extended their facilities thus adding to the cost of doing business. Did this mean co-operatives wanted reimposition of wartime controls to prevent this over-extension?

"We are against controls," Mr. Fowler replied. "They are not desirable and people are not prepared to accept them. We believe people should organize and do their own controlling."

BCE SEEKS HIKE IN RATES

OFFICIAL CENTENNIAL OPENING

On Victoria
This Weekend

By JOHN MIKA

The eyes of the province will be centred on Victoria this weekend.

Saturday's re-enactment of the arrival of Ss. Commodore and Sunday's Day of Thanksgiving ceremonies will place the city at the very heart of the official opening of centennial celebrations by 1,500,000 British Columbians.

The two events will combine spectacular high jinks with sober reflection of the strides made by the province in the footsteps of its courageous pioneers.

Street dancing, bell ringing and ceremonial pageantry will accompany the gala greeting of the Commodore.

A huge beacon fire and solemn ceremony on Clover Point will climax Sunday's Thanksgiving services in city churches, at the Legislative Building and Memorial Arena. Centennial decorations and bunting will be displayed throughout the city by citizens and merchants for the weekend. Many of the seven-foot centennial balloons will be suspended across downtown streets to add to the Mardi Gras atmosphere. The first 10 of the 64 balloons were being put to the breeze today along Government, Douglas and View Streets. Police Chief John Blackstock today appealed to residents to stay off floats in the Inner Harbor Saturday and off rooftops of nearby buildings to prevent damage and injuries.

Festivities Start at 2 P.M. Saturday

Saturday's festivities begin at 2 p.m. when the HMCS Naden band strikes up on a float in Inner Harbor, immediately in front of the Empress Hotel.

Government and Belleville Streets, circling the harbor, will be blocked off from traffic to accommodate the throngs of spectators.

At 2.45 p.m. a flight of navy Avenger aircraft will swoop low over the harbor in a fly-past salute. About 10 pennant-draped speedboats and some six dugout canoes bearing Indians in native dress, from local reserves, will circle the harbor several times before meeting the Commodore at the mouth of the harbor at 2.50 p.m.

As the Commodore, a converted naval ship, rounds the point, it will fire a canon. The city will erupt in a round of church bell-ringing and whistle blowing while two Island Tug fire boats send up geysers of water in salute.

The flotilla of speedboats and dugouts will escort the Commodore to the float while two of the 50 bearded sailors aboard dive into the water and swim to shore in a re-enactment of the "stowaways" escape when the original Commodore arrived with its first load of gold miners.

On arrival, a group of sailors will jump on to the float and dance a hornpipe while three coaches and two carriages drive from the hotel to the causeway bearing about 20 "local belles" and their partners along with a party of dignitaries.

The "belles" and their beaux will perform a square dance on the float as Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, Mayor Percy Scurrell and Sir James Douglas, portrayed by singer Jack Dunbar, descend the steps to greet the ship.

From the Commodore will step O. Rodney Doerr, president of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, representing the mayor of that city.

A brief pageant, including speeches by the dignitaries and a song by Mr. Dunbar, will be carried to the spectators through a battery of loud-speakers.

Ceremonial dances by the Indians, led by Chief Percy-Ross, will precede the street dancing on Government and Belleville when the Homesteaders orchestra strikes up on a stage in front of the hotel.

After a supper break at 5 p.m., an evening program will begin at 8 p.m., with an hour of folk dances performed on the float by a variety of ethnic groups.

The Commodore will be floodlit throughout the evening.

Street dancing will end the colorful day when the Homesteaders take the stage again at 9 p.m. and stay there until the party breaks up.

Participants in the entire show will be dressed in costumes of a century ago and the B.C. Centennial Committee

BULLETINS

Vancouver Pilot
Killed in Crash

OTTAWA (CP). — A two-engine Beechcraft aircraft owned by the Transport Department crashed and burned at nearby Uplands Airport today, killing the pilot, identified as John A. Macdonald, 41, of Vancouver, an inspector of airways with the Transport Department who was on a refresher training flight.

New Soviet Note

LONDON (UP). — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has sent a new message to President Eisenhower "giving a comprehensive explanation of the Soviet stand on urgent world problems." Moscow Radio said tonight.

Moscow Radio gave no details of the new Soviet message but said a summary of it would be broadcast later.

Man Questioned

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP). — Police said they were questioning a man today in connection with the death Tuesday night of 82-year-old Mrs. Amelia Davis who was struck by a vehicle which did not stop. They said the elderly lady was knocked down on a crosswalk and died in hospital three hours later.

Smuggler Jailed

NEW YORK (UP). — George Briscois, alleged Canadian representative of a multi-million-dollar narcotics smuggling ring, was sentenced to a 42-month jail term and fined $10,000 today by Federal Judge, Irving R. Kaufman.

'People's Party'

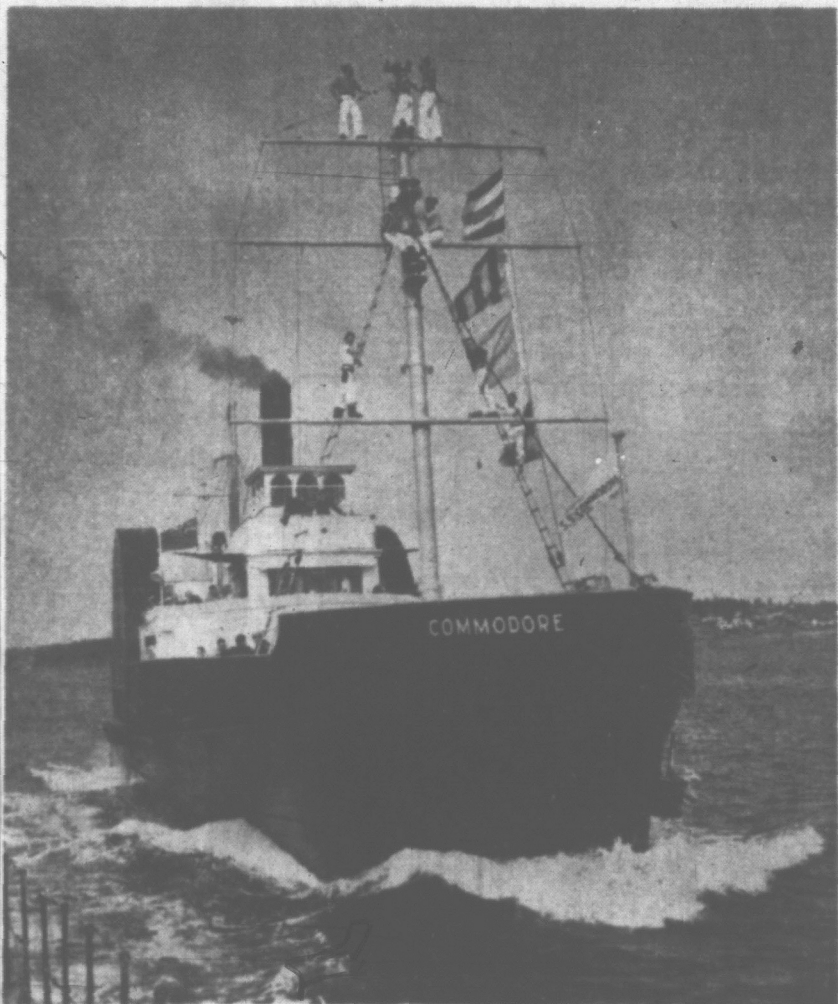

WINNIPEG (UP). — A cheering, standing vote by delegates to the biennial convention of the Canadian Labor Congress today approved a resolution that laid the groundwork for the formation of "a people's political party."

Rebels Going Under

SINGAPORE (UP). — The Indonesian government reported major successes against the rebels in five areas today and said there were widespread rebel defections and surrenders.

Vancouver Stocks

VANCOUVER — Closing sales were light. Royal Canadian sold 500 at 45. B.C. Power 30 at $38.50, Craigmont 500 at $2.90, New Hamit 500 at 16.

HISTORY TOLD AGAIN

DEPORTED FINN CASE

Fulton Orders Probe
On Vancouver Jailing

From BUP and CP Dispatches

OTTAWA — Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton said today his department is conducting an inquiry into why ex-Communist William Heikilla was held in a Vancouver jail after being deported from the United States.

Heikilla, arrested by American immigration officers in San Francisco Friday, was flown under guard to Vancouver and held there during the weekend before being deported to Finland. His deportation order has since been cancelled and he is to return to the United States.

John Taylor (PC-Vancouver-Burrard), said he would bring the matter up in the House of Commons "at the earliest opportunity after it opens."

USED AS A HAVEN

A well-known immigration lawyer who gained national recognition handling the George Christian Hanna case a year ago, Taylor said he was drafting a motion asking the government what it will do to prevent U.S. immigration authorities from using Canadian jails as "havens against habeas corpus proceedings in U.S. courts."

Vancouver police magistrate Oscar Orr also demanded an inquiry.

"People detained in jail must be there for some legal reason and they should be brought before a magistrate," he said.

Separate Talks
'Waste of Time'

LONDON (Reuters). — Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said today it would be "a waste of time" for the Big Three Western ambassadors in Moscow to meet separately with Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to prepare for summit talks.

Lloyd, answering questions in the House of Commons, said Britain is discussing with the U.S. and French governments "how best to deal" with Russia's demand that the ambassadors should split up for the negotiations.

Lloyd said Britain has not been approached about bringing other countries into the negotiations. There have been reports Russia would ask to have the Polish and Czechoslovak ambassadors take part in the talks to balance the Eastern and Western sides.

PARIS (AP). — Official sources today said the three Western powers will ask the Soviet Union in a note today or Thursday whether she still wants to discuss a summit conference.

The action by France, Britain and the United States is in answer to the Kremlin's refusal to discuss a summit conference with the three Western ambassadors in Moscow jointly.

50c to $1.50 Month
Increase in Bills
Faces Householders

B.C. Electric today applied to the Public Utilities Commission for a general rate increase that would raise its revenues by approximately 12 per cent.

If granted, it will mean a raise in rates to householders of from 50 cents to $1.50 per month.

Announcement of the application was made in Vancouver by A. E. Grauer, company president.

"This is only the second general rate increase in the company's history, as compared with numerous decreases throughout our history," Mr. Grauer said. The first increase was 1951 and 1952, during the Korean War.

He said small consumers with bills totalling $3 or less would not be affected, and that the average bill of the residential consumer would be increased by three to four cents per day.

"Rates for commercial and small industrial customers would be increased by from five to 10 per cent on the mainland, and by approximately seven per cent on Vancouver Island south," he said. "Large industrial consumers, who pay much less per kilowatt hour, would face larger increases."

There was mixed reaction to the proposal from civic and business groups, but it was generally agreed that it should receive close scrutiny.

'Long, Hard Look' by Council

Mayor Percy Scurrell said council will "take a long, hard look" at the application to make sure it is justified before it agrees to any increase.

"However, with the rapid development of the province, it is absolutely necessary that BCE be able to borrow money so they can expand their service at this point in our history," he said.

The increase "will make it that much more difficult to do business," said W. Stanley Moore, president of Moore-Whittington-Lumber Co. Ltd., when asked about the BCE proposal.

"It will raise our costs, and we won't be able to absorb the increase because our trade is 80 per cent export," he said.

His superintendent, Thomas Wellburn, said lumber prices cannot absorb the increase.

"I don't know how we'll manage in the face of a rate increase," he said. "The easiest way to shut down industry is to raise the power rates."

A Chamber of Commerce spokesman refused comment on the proposed increase.

"We will want to study it before making any statement," he said.

Mr. Grauer said the application placed before the Public Utilities Commission this morning resulted from increasing costs which have accumulated over a number of years.

Areas served by the BCE, and which will be affected by higher rates, are Vancouver Island south, Greater Vancouver, Fraser Valley, and Hope-Lytton in the Fraser Canyon.

All city and municipal councils and clerks have been informed of the company's application.

W. C. Mearns, new vice-president in charge of Vancouver Island operations for the company, said the PUC will decide for itself what action is to be taken, but it likely will arrange public hearings on the application. The company hopes to see the rates in operation "in the latter six months of the year."

In the same period, Mr. Grauer explained, the company has faced a heavy expansion program to keep power production in step with requirements which have more than doubled since 1950.

Earnings Fall, Says Grauer

Construction costs have risen sharply during that period, while the company's rate of earnings has declined steadily during the past three years, he said.

The PUC, Mr. Grauer stated, has established that a "fair and reasonable" earnings rate based on the cost of service facilities is 6 1/2 per cent.

"Actual rate of earnings," he said, "has fallen from 6.1 per cent in 1955 to 5.9 per cent in 1956, and about 5 per cent in 1957—and the downward trend is continuing in 1958."

"In 1958 to 1960, inclusive, the company must borrow about $270,000,000," he added. "Of this, more than $190,000,000 will be required for expansion of electric service."

"Despite the fact we have faced a formidable burden of

MONTANA SNOWDRIFTS
KEEP WEATHERMAN IN

RED LODGE, Mont. (AP). — This southern Montana community was marooned by waist-deep snow today as a spring storm continued its wind, rain and snow assault on the state. No one knew exactly how deep it was. It was so deep the weather observer couldn't go out to measure it.

I. A. Draper, weather observer for the Red Lodge area, said the storm was "the worst I ever saw in 56 years of recording." Schools were closed and traffic was at a standstill.

Union Chief Agrees to Meeting
With Crump on CPR Diesel Issue

(See Also Page 3)

WINNIPEG (CP). — International president H. E. Gilbert of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen said today he will accept an offer of CPR president N. R. Crump to meet Mr. Crump in Montreal Tuesday afternoon over the union's diesel dispute with the railway.

The Cleveland union chief, here attending the Canadian Labor Congress convention, received today a letter from Mr. Crump in which the CPR head agreed to an earlier Gilbert suggestion for a meeting.

Mr. Gilbert planned to fly back to the United States today and said he will wire his acceptance to Mr. Crump from Duluth.

"I have told Mr. Crump in my previous letters," he said, "and I will repeat to him in my wire that I am ready to meet with him with my original purpose in mind—to discuss the issues without rancor and without a survival of the fittest attitude."

In a strongly-worded letter to Mr. Gilbert, released Tuesday night, Mr. Crump criticized the union chief for his attack on the Kellogg royal commission which investigated and supported the CPR plan to remove firemen from yard and road freight diesels.

Referring to Mr. Gilbert's charge that the commission showed "glaring ineptitude," Mr. Crump said: "Nothing could be further from the truth. Unwarranted attacks on the members of the royal commission cannot affect the force of their report."

The recommendation of the royal commission is not binding and the firemen have rejected it.

SOVIET SECRET

Does Beep-Blackout
Mask Sputnik III?

NEW YORK (AP). — Is a secret Sputnik III circling the earth, painted black, beeping out its message only over Russia?

Is a rocket made in Russia all set to land on the moon?

Or has the U.S.S.R. been having rocket-launching troubles?

These are some of the questions asked in a swagbuck of speculation, all rising from the fact it has been almost six months since Sputnik II rose on Nov. 3.

Why the six months' delay in Sputniks? Or is the Soviet Union preparing some spectacular new step in our young new space age?

A secret Sputnik is possible, says one prominent U.S. rocket scientist.

"The Russians might have been shocked and awed by our reactions when they were first with their Sputniks," he says. "Maybe they don't want to stir us up anymore, so they're waiting awhile."

"Maybe they even sent up a secret Sputnik to continue their scientific work. Paint it black instead of polishing it up, and it would be very hard ever to see. Fix it so it broadcasts only on command signal from the ground in Russia, and radio stations elsewhere could miss it entirely."

Another publicly voiced suggestion is the Russians have been shooting for the moon, but missing.

Something is apparently brewing.

Academician Anatoli Blagonravov, a rocket specialist, was quoted in a Soviet radio broadcast as saying the Russians are close to sending a man up in a rocket with safe return.

RETURNS TO HOUSE

Cheering from both Conservative and Labor members of Parliament greeted Sir Winston Churchill today as he took his House of Commons seat for the first time since his recent illness. Welcome was extended to the 83-year-old statesman by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

COLUMBIA WARNING

Salmon 'Decimated'
If River Diverted

WASHINGTON (CP). — A U.S. interior department official told a Senate committee today the valuable salmon runs on British Columbia's Fraser River will be "decimated" if Canada diverts the Columbia River into the Fraser for hydro purposes.

Ross Leffler, assistant secretary of the interior, said that if the United States does not "come to some early agreement with Canada on development of the Columbia River, the Fraser River will be sacrificed as a fish stream and the west coast fishing industry—an important segment of our economy—will be seriously affected."

Testifying before a Senate internal affairs committee hearing on the use of U.S. water resources, Leffler also expressed belief that diversion of the Columbia into the Fraser in Canada would have "deleterious effects" on the fisheries of the Columbia downstream in the U.S. Pacific northwest.

It would do this, he said, by changing the temperature and reducing the quality of the water. In addition, decreased water flow would increase mortality among young salmon.

The action by France, Britain and the United States is in answer to the Kremlin's refusal to discuss a summit conference with the three Western ambassadors in Moscow jointly.

Lot o' folks are goin' t' take a dim view o' their light bill.

M' Uncle Zeke sez he's goin' t' establish himself as a public utility an' raise his rates.

In th' U.S. any boy kin look forward t' bein' head o' th' gov'mint. In France EVERY boy kin look forward t' it.

By PETE LOUDON

Delegates may have to come early to be sure of a seat when the quarterly meeting of the B.C. Progressive Conservative Party opens at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Empress Hotel.

The party, which earlier booked the joining Queen Charlotte and Albert Rooms with capacity for 125 persons, now expects close to 175 to attend.

A large number of party "friends" who will have a voice but no vote in the proceedings, are expected, provincial president Gowan T. Guest, Vancouver lawyer, said today.

Some controversy is expected following the announcement that Delta Constituency Association will call for a fall leadership and policy convention.

Although provincial leader Deane Finlayson has stated he would not object to a leadership convention, it is reported many of his supporters would oppose it. There are rumors other names would be put forward as leadership candidates.

These include the name of Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton, whose home riding is Kamloops. Certain sections of the party feel with the new power of the Conservatives in Ottawa, Mr. Fulton could be spared to assist the party in this province.

10,000 DIE AS SMALLPOX HITS PAKISTAN

DACCA, Pakistan (Reuters) — About 10,000 persons have died during the last three weeks as a result of cholera and smallpox epidemics sweeping East Pakistan, provincial health sources said here today.

The Indian government today applied quarantine measures along Pakistan's border with West Bengal, where there also is a cholera epidemic.

At the beginning of April smallpox broke out in two northern districts of East Pakistan, grew to epidemic proportions, and swept down over the rest of the province with its 50,000,000 inhabitants.

"GREAT RALLY"

Mr. Guest doubted the Saturday meeting will oppose a fall convention.

"The enthusiasm in the party is such that we feel a great rally (or convention), would be a better thing than the regular annual meeting."

However, he added, many persons other than official executives are expected to be heard from.

He said 133 delegates are authorized to attend. Of these 120 are definitely expected.

Also, "... we have indicated any Conservative interested enough to pay his expenses will be welcomed and able to speak, though only delegates may vote; so there will likely be about 50 'friends'."

A rare show was seen in Pacific Northwest skies Tuesday night.

One of the brightest meteors observed in many years put on a spectacular "fireworks" display as it burned up in the earth's atmosphere.
